Appoint Superintendent, Candidates Urge

By LARRY LOVETT

Four candidates for seats on the county board of education last night said they believe the county superintendent of schools should be appointed, instead of elected.

Their views were presented at a candidates' meeting at Tamalpais High School, sponsored by the high school's chapter of the Junior Statesmen under guidance of the Mill Valley League of Women Voters.

One candidate, however, qualified his opinion.

IDEAL, BUT . . .

Earl G. Marshall of Novato declared: "At this time, the superintendent should be elected, but the future should be appointed by the board from a list of three eligibles." He called the appointive plan "ideal but premature," adding, "it should rest with the public until the board is in a better position to know the situation."

The comments came in response to a question to all county board candidates as to their views on election or appointment of the superintendent.

Ted V. Cole, incumbent board member from Zone 5 whom Marshall is trying to unseat, supported the appointive plan with the assertion: "Education should be taken out of politics. Our present superintendent is playing the part of a politician."

Mrs. Alce Ann (Nancy) Rust, incumbent from Zone 2, said under the present system, board and superintendent are sometimes seeking counter-objectives.

Mrs. Adele Alpers, Zone 1 incumbent, also supported the appointive plan, calling the superintendent's job "a sensitive one."

Mrs. Anne Smart, who opposes Mrs. Rust in the election, and Dennis Carey, who is running against Mrs. Alpers, were not present.

Candidates for the Marin Junior College District Board were asked: "Would you permit free and open discussion of controversial subjects such as Marxism in the classrooms?"

Francis B. Boone of Fairfax agreed to such discussions, calling the junior college "a vital link in the transition from high

S. F. HAS INSIDE TRACK AS SUMMIT TALKS SITE

GENEVA (AP)—San Francisco appeared today to have an inside track for a summit meeting.

And the opening date for the meeting of heads of government being mentioned by officials here is Aug. 1 or 3.

San Francisco heads the list of sites prepared by the Big Four diplomats here for the foreign ministers conference. Geneva is second. Vienna and Quebec City seemed to be slowly dropping out.

The foreign ministers will have to agree on the time, place and work schedule for a summit meeting, provided one is held. A summit conference still hinges on a reasonable promise of some success as shown by the progress of the foreign ministers' talks.

British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan is said to favor San Francisco. It is known Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev would like to visit the United States. The United States appears reconciled to having Khrushchev as a guest and could avoid a special visit by having the summit conference at San Francisco. (See story on page 14.)

President Charles de Gaulle of France wants the meeting in Geneva, but was not expected to turn down an American meeting place.

Sea Storm Brings Drizzle, Cool Air

A sea storm brought welcome drizzles to Marin today, and the weather man forecast occasional light rain through tomorrow. Generally cooler temperatures were expected during the slight storm with southwesterly winds of 10 to 20 miles an hour.

The county fire department reported .03 of an inch of rain at 9 a.m. today at Woodacre. At Sausalito and Muir Woods .02 of inch was reported.

San Rafael recorded .01 of inch at noon today with the temperature at 52. Season's total rainfall is 22.65 inches. High temperatures yesterday: San Rafael, 68; Novato, 76; San Anselmo, 72; Terra Linda, 70; Mill Valley, 68; Woodacre, 67; Tiburon 65, and Bolinas, 70.

2 Airmen Held For Petaluma Assault

Two airmen from Hamilton Air Force Base were held in Petaluma City Jail in $1,000 bail each today on charges of beating up a Petaluma cafe operator who said they tried to force him to submit to an act of perversion.

The case closely paralleled that involving four other Hamilton airmen who were to appear today in Marin Municipal Court to answer charges of kidnapping and forcing lewd acts at knifepoint on a San Rafael man last week.

A/2c Luther C. James, 22, and A/3c Andrew Crowe, 28, both of the 78th Fighter Wing at Hamilton, were arrested by Petaluma police on complaint of Grant Miller, operator of Miller's Candies, a confectionery-cafe on Petalmua Boulevard North.

Miller ran shoeless through the Sonoma city's southern suburbs to reach a telephone after he escaped the pair Sunday night.

He told police he met the two at a bar near his cafe. They drove to a road leading to a quarry about a mile south of the city. There, they stopped the car and made him an indecent proposition, Miller claimed.

When he refused to submit, he declared, one of the pair thrust a beer can opener up his nose and threatened to ear his nose off.

He was then beaten and kicked, and his shoes pulled off, he claimed. The airmen also robbed him, he told police.

Police Officer John Graves returned to the scene and found Miller's billfold, containing $4, plus 98 cents in cash on the ground. Near the billfold lay Miller's discarded shoes.

The airmen were arrested in the same bar where they had met Miller.

Both are scheduled to answer battery charges either tomorrow or Friday in the Petaluma Justice Court of Judge Rolland Webb.

3 Jets Hurtle Into Atlantic, Pilots Killed

MYRTLE BEACH, S. C. (AP)—Three F100 Super Sabre jet planes hurtled into the Atlantic Ocean off the South Carolina coast before daylight today, killing all three pilots, the Air Force announced

Searchers spotted wreckage and oil slicks, but officers at Myrtle Beach Air Force had no ready explanation for the cause of the crash Observers said they saw no collision.

The three planes, part of a night navigational and refueling training flight, had a rendezvous over the ocean with a fuel tanker plane. Another pilot in the mission reported seeing the three jets "descending rapidly in a turn immediately prior to hitting the surface of the ocean."

Coast Chamber Urges Tomales Harbor District

The Marin Coast Chamber of Commerce, meeting last night in Inverness, passed a resolutoin backing the formation of a harbor district for Tomales Bay.

Capt. Adolph S. Oka said the chamber passed the resolution that it would be the sponsoring organization of citizens and groups for the establishment of the district, after talks by state and federal officials.

Teuscher said the organizing group would have to select the political subdivision for the district. There are several possibilities, including the school district. He said a harbor district would have to declare a tax rate limit, which probably would not be more than three cents per $100 assessed valuation.

Funds from the taxes, he said, would be needed for organizational programming and selection of a company to make an economic survey. The survey would include the cost and need for an improved entrance to the bay, dredging, rights of way and road accesses.

James Dunham, an engineer for the state Small Crafts Harbor Commission, said his agency would offer advice on the formation of a district. Also, he said, state loans might be available at low-interest rates, and that there might be some grants for improvements.

John Degnan of the Army Corps of Engineers, San Francisco, explained that the harbor organizers would have to press for congressional approval to get Army Engineer surveys on breakwaters and dredging.

San Rafael Elementary Teachers Due Raise

San Rafael elementary school teachers will get pay raises averaging about $400 more than for last year, the city's board of education decided last night.

The board, which had raised the minimum salary from $4,300 to $4,500, last night raised the top pay to $8,167.

Under the present system, elementary teachers have three pay scales, depending on the amount of experience. Top pay for scale three is $7,500. A fourth scale was set up last night, and the top pay for that scale set at $8,167.

The board did not reach a decision on pay raises for high school teachers. Discussion of high school salaries and budget will continue at an adjourned meeting set for 7:30 p.m. next Tuesday.

Elementary school administrators also received pay raises amounting to about $400 per year.

Dr. Raymond J. Simpson, assistant superintendent, and Dr. Mildred Barnard, director of instruction for the elementary district, received raises of $750 each, bringing their annual salaries to $12,000 and $11,500 respectively.

Classified employees, such as clerical and maintenance workers, will get 5 per cent raises.

Carter Wins Posthumous Decision In Marin Court

The late Justice Jesse W. Carter of Sleepy Hollow won a Marin Superior Court decision yesterday, giving him the right to dissolve an old water agreement with neighbors and to sell water tanks and other facilities at auction.

Judge Arthur L. Mundo, retired from San Diego and serving now in San Mateo, handed down his ruling yesterday in Marin. He heard the case last February and took it under submission.

The judge's decision grants dissolution of a water pumping agreement made with neighbors in 1947. Justice Carter had said he, his neighbor, Dr. B. Stanley Kern, and another neighbor put in a water system on Carter's Sleepy Hollow Ranch. They used the system until the Marin Municipal Water District began serving the area.

Carter now wanted to tear up the old tanks and piping. He offered Kern $500 to buy out Kern's share, but Kern held out for $750. Carter then went to court.

Judge Mundo authorized scrapping the old water tanks and pipes and naming of a commissioner to conduct the auction sale.

Herter Challenges Russ To Negotiate

Says West Powers Can't March Alone To Summit

GENEVA (AP)—U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter challenged Russia's Andrei Gromyko today to join in "serious, constructive negotiation." He said if the foreign ministers' meeting here makes satisfactory progress it can lead to a summit session.

"My government is anxious to make the necessary progress here," Herter said at the Big Four meeting, "but the Western powers cannot make it alone."

Herter addressed the third session of the foreign ministers' meeting. His speech had been delayed two days while Gromyko fought for increased status for East Germany and conference membership for Poland and Czechoslovakia.

HOPES DASHED

Herter said that most of the hopes raised by the Big Four summit conference here in 1955 have been dashed. He said Germany, the major subject of the present meeting, remains split with "its division a grave injustice bearing the seeds of future troubles."

Yet, he said, there have recently been a few hopeful signs of improving East-West relations. He specified some progress in talks on suspending nuclear tests and developing contacts between Soviet and Western peoples.

REASON FOR PARLEY

But Herter said the present conference is not being held because any change in the world political situation makes agreement more likely—but simply because of the Soviet Union's announced intention "to liquidate the relationship under which the four powers have been discharging their

Novato School Bonds Seen Vital By '60

A bond issue to finance new classroom construction in the Novato Unified School District by 1960 will have to be presented to the voters whether or not the district becomes unified with San Jose School District, trustees agreed last night.

"We must act to protect our own district now," declared Trustee Earl Marshall. "It is just possible that the voters will turn down unification again. The bonds should get our first consideration."

Other trustees agreed that merging of the districts might increase classroom needs in Novato, especially at the high school.

Supt. William J. J. Smith was directed to recommend when an election should be held and what amounts of local bonds and state loans should be requested.

"The recommendation" said Smith, "will certainly show that we will need more classrooms by September of 1960."

Trustees, however, also agreed to urge the County Committee on School District Organization to set a unification election in the two districts "by the latter part of September."

Vote To Curb Civil Service Slated In Hub

San Anselmo City Council members—four of them, at least—plan to "get out and talk" to put across removal of city department heads from civil service "freeze" in a special election that was set last night for July 14.

Councilman Carmel H. Booth, recovering from a sinus operation, was not present at last night's meeting of the Hub City council. But the other four members all promised to "get out and talk" for the proposed change, which has been urged for years by Mayor Arthur W. Smith.

The proposal to be put before the voters provides simply that heads of city departments—police chief, fire chief, building department and public works chiefs—shall not hold those jobs under classified civil service.

The plan as envisioned by Mayor Smith is that department heads normally would be promoted from the ranks. They would retain whatever civil service rating they held before being put in charge of the departments. If a department head failed to perform to the council's satisfaction, he could be removed—and put back in the ranks at his previous rating.

As San Anselmo's civil service law now stands, a department head is "frozen" into his position. He can be removed only by filing definite charges of misfeasance, malfeasance or some criminal activity, which must be proved to the satisfaction of the city's board of review if he appeals.

The result, claimed Mayor Smith, is that the department

150 Shirts Disappear From Macy's

One hundred and fifty sports shirts of assorted sizes and colors disappeared from Macy's department store in San Rafael in broad daylight yesterday

Police and store officials today were still trying to figure out exactly how the shirts, packed three or four in a box, were surreptitiously carried out from the narrow hallway where they were stacked.

Employees of the store said they saw a Latin type man walk out with one large cardboard box yesterday afternoon.

Allan D. McLeod, assistant manager of Macy's called police at 3:50 p.m. to report the loss. He said the shirts were stacked in boxes in a narrow hallway next to the electrical control room which opens onto the rear parking lot.

The missing shirts are worth about $3 each, or $450 in all.

Scooter, Bike Hit; Boy, 8, Injured

An 8-year-old San Anselmo boy, Vincent Holsten, suffered a lump on the head and a swollen right elbow when his bicycle sideswiped a motor scooter at 3:15 p.m. yesterday

The boy, a son of Mrs. Lois Holsten of 125 Pine street, was taken to Marin General Hospital by San Anselmo police. Vincent was riding on the wrong side of Sanders avenue near its intersection with Center boulevard when the pair of two-wheeled conveyances sideswiped, police said.

Mounted on the motor scooter was Brooks Houghton, 17, of 10 Idalia court, San Anselmo, a student at Sir Francis Drake High School. He was northbound.

ALONE AT LAST — Alone save for a few score photographers, Eddie Fisher and Elizabeth Taylor embrace after their Jewish wedding ceremony yesterday in Las Vegas, conducted three hours after Fisher was granted a Nevada divorce from Debbie Reynolds. The newlyweds were in New York City today on first leg of their honeymoon. (AP Wirephoto)

Newlywed Eddie, Liz Pause In N. Y. En Route To European Honeymoon

NEW YORK (UPI) — Newlyweds Eddie Fisher and Elizabeth Taylor, who spent their wedding night on a jet airliner, checked into a suite at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel today and immediately put up the "do not disturb" sign.

Weary but feeling "wonderful" after the five-hour and 10-minute trip from Los Angeles, the couple arrived at Idlewild Airport and went directly to the Waldorf. They were accompanied by Miss Pat Newcomb, a friend, who made the trip with them.

A hotel spokesman said they were expected to stay at the Waldorf-Astoria until tomorrow, when they will leave for a European honeymoon.

Earlier, Fisher told reporters at Idlewild that he and his bride had spent their wedding night sitting in the plane's lounge talking to Miss Newcomb. Miss Taylor said then that they were unsure whether they would depart for Europe today or tomorrow.

"We have a lot of things to do," Miss Taylor said.

The couple refused to say where they were going in Europe for their honeymoon aside from confirming a report that they would spend some time aboard a yacht with a honeymoon cabin styled after one occupied by Christopher Columbus.

Their sundown wedding in Las Vegas at the Beth Sholom Jewish Temple was almost delayed by a crowd of some 100 spectators, many children, who besieged Miss Taylor when she arrived.

During the ceremonies conducted jointly by Rabbi Max Nussbaum of Hollywood and Rabbi Ben Cohen of the temple, several children climbed onto window ledges and rapped loudly. They were shooed away.

About 30 relatives and close friends attended, with all the male guests wearing the traditional yamulka or skull cap.

Judge David Zenoff after a brief 12-minute hearing closed to the press said he was satisfied that "Eddie had 10 times as much evidence as he needed to prove himself a resident of Nevada."

Fisher charged Miss Reynolds with mental cruelty, the same grounds she used for divorcing him in February in Los Angeles. The Nevada divorce was necessary because the California decree does not become final until next February.

Fisher also hinted at "secret reasons" for the cause of his breakup of the once "ideal" marriage with Miss Reynolds.

"If the public only knew the truth—the real reason for our splitup," he said.

Legal Action In Sandspit Battle Vowed

Legal action will be brought against the City of Sausalito and its city council to prevent commercial use of the city's sandspit as soon as the necessary legal documents can be prepared, San Rafael attorney Joseph C. Wilson said today.

Wilson, acting for the Sausalito Committee to Save the Sandspit, said he plans the action "to test the validity of our referendum petition."

Wilson referred to a petition presented at the latest city council meeting which called on the council to submit the matter to a vote of the people.

City Atty. John B. Ehlen held the petition was without force.

The "battle of the sandspit" has been raging for several weeks after disclosure that Madden and Lewis, who hold a long-term lease of the land, plan to sublease a portion of it to a firm headed by J. Eugene McAteer of San Francisco for a restaurant, cocktail lounge and series of shops.

The council, by a 3-2 vote, approved the sublease.

TROUT BILL SHELVED FOR NEXT 2 YEARS

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A proposal to stop fishermen from going after trout just after they are planted has been shelved at least for the next two years.

The bill by Assemblyman Pauline Davis (D-Portola) was ordered to a two-year study yesterday by the Assembly Fish and Game Committee.

Alec Calhoun of the State Fish and Game Department said the enforcement would be difficult and the ban would be unpopular with anglers.

New Farmers

Land Owners Elect In Greenbrae

DeWitt Kenneth MacDonald Jr. of 32 Bretano way, Greenbrae, last night was elected 1959-60 president of the Greenbrae Property Owners Assn.

MacDonald is an attorney with the firm of Nelson, Boyd and Menary in San Rafael. He succeeds Dr. Ted F. Pett in the presidency. Dr. Pett was named treasurer.

Other officers are Leo H. Perrier, vice president; Mrs. John C. Cummings, recording secretary, and Mrs. Richard Marchand, corresponding secretary.

Elected to the board of directors were Hubert O. Pessner, Robert F. McCullough, Norman T. Johnsen and Vernon Brammer. They will serve on the board with the five officers.

The association decided to clean up a playground area donated to property owners of Greenbrae some years ago by the Schultz Co. The lot, now overgrown with vegetation, is located off Corte Los Sombras.

It was also decided that an intensive drive for new members should be undertaken.

STOCKS TODAY

NEW YORK (AP)—Motors and steels stepped ahead to pace a stock market advance late this afternoon. Trading, while fairly active, was at the slowest rate this week.

Volume for the day was estimated at 3,300,000 shares compared with 3,550,000 yesterday.

Gains of fractions to a point or more were the rule among pivotal issues. There were scattered losers.

Advances of more than a point by Jones and Laughlin and Republic Steel highlighted their group. Lukens added about two.

Chrysler gained well over a point. Gains of close to a point were made by Ford and General Motors.

Du Pont rose about seven and Allied Chemical more than three, bolstering the averages. But a brake was put on the rise by American Telephone's loss of two.

war — originated responsibilities for Berlin and for reunifying Germany."

He declared that the Big Four cannot now abdicate a responsibility for uniting Germany which the heads of all four governments acknowledged at the summit meeting four years ago.

THREE OBJECTIVES

"As I see it, our foreign ministers' meeting has three inter-related objectives," Herter said.

"The first is to reach positive agreements over as wide a field as possible. The second is to narrow the differences between our respective points of view. The third is to prepare constructive proposals for consideration by a conference of heads of government if such a conference takes place later this year."

REJECT PROPOSAL

Herter, France's Maurice Couve de Murville and Britain's Selwyn Lloyd all turned down the proposition yesterday.

The Western ministers offered Gromyko a compromise, however: To let the two Communist nations and Italy and probably one or two other Western states enter the parley at some later time.

But Gromyko said through a spokesman the success of the conference was hinged to bringing in the Polish and Czech foreign ministers as full members at once. He demanded "a positive decision" and made clear he wanted it today.

Novatan Hurt As Car Runs Into Bridge

Sylvester John Porter of 58 Raposa Vista, Novato, was pulled from the wreckage of his car on Novato boulevard near Eucalyptus avenue, Novato, and taken to the hospital by United Ambulance about 5 a.m.

An incomplete report by the California Highway Patrol did not indicate how the accident happened, but said Porter's car, a total wreck, was found rammed into a bridge on a curve near the intersection.

The report said a dog also was injured and was turned over to the Marin County Humane Society. The hospital said Porter works at the Presidio of San Francisco.

ROBERT FERRERA
Honor for immigrant's son

NOVATAN'S SON

Marinite To Be USF'S Valedictorian

A Novato gardener's son will be valedictorian at the University of San Francisco's 100th commencement.

Robert Ferrera, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adelino R. Ferrera of 938 Bruno street, was selected over nine other candidates for the honor, the university announced today. The commencement will be held June 7.

The senior Ferrera, who came to the United States from the Azores at the age of 16 and went to work as a dairy hand on a Marin ranch, said today he is "very proud of that boy."

Ferrera said his son, who is president of the university student body, will be graduated with a major in English and next year will enter the university's law school.

He said Robert has been an outstanding scholar all during his university career and during four years at Marin Catholic High School. The boy won several trophies in speaking contests while in high school, and "won scholarships for all his time in high school and at the university," Ferrera said.

Ferrera is a gardener at the Indian Valley Golf Club. Prior to that he was in a dairy business and worked for 11 years at the American Distilling Co. in Sausalito.

The Ferreras have one other child, Linda, 13, a student at Marin Catholic High. "I'm very proud of her, too," the father said. "She wants to be a teacher."

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies traded pitcher Seth Morehead to the Chicago Cubs for pitcher Taylor Phillips yesterday.

Appeal Made In Smuggling Accusation

San Francisco criminal lawyer George T. Davis, accused in Marin County of conspiring to smuggle a manuscript out of San Quentin Prison, is trying to squash the charge in the District Court of Appeals in San Francisco.

Davis and two other defendants, literary agent Joseph Longstreth and publisher Prentice-Hall, Inc., had the Marin case held up until next Monday while they appealed to the district court. That appeal was filed yesterday.

All three were indicted by the Marin County grand jury last December on charges of conspiracy to smuggle Caryl Chessman's "The Face of Justice" out of Death Row in 1957.

Davis, represented by James Martin MacInnis, argued that it is unconstitutional to charge them with conspiracy, a felony, when the basic offense of smuggling was only a misdemeanor and the statute of limitations had already run out.

The defendants also allege that evidence presented to the grand jury was insufficient for an indictment.

AIRMEN

2347th Materiel Squadron.

Held in the county jail in $5,000 bail each after transfer from the Hamilton stockade, they were to appear this afternoon in Marin Municipal Court.

David Buenrostro, 29, of 43 Harbor street, San Rafael, said he met the airmen at Club Rio near the airbase Thursday night. They offered to take him home. Instead they pulled off onto Smith Brothers dump road and pulled a knife on him, beating him with judo chops and pulling his hair.

Inspector Bowen Bridges brought the victim to county jail this morning for a lineup of the suspects along with other jail inmates. Buenrostro picked the four airmen as his assailants.

Benchwarmers Benefit Movie Set Tomorrow

There's still time to board the "Houseboat."

Victor Sagues, vice president of spring sports for the Drake High School Benchwarmers, said tickets still are available for the Benchwarmers' annual benefit movie tomorrow night at the Fairfax Theater.

The show will be "Houseboat" with Sophia Loren and Cary Grant. Features will begin at 6:45 and 8:45 p.m. Profits go to underwrite the Benchwarmers' scholarship program.

ELECTION

"When the department head is under civil service, he does not have to answer to anybody for his policies," said the mayor. "We have to answer to the voters."

Questioned by Lawrence Antolini of the board of review, City Manager Arthur W. Brewer said "the overwhelming majority" of cities do not make civil service ratings out of department head positions.

Antolini, however, declared, "If you're going to take the police chief out of civil service, you should have him elected by the people as San Rafael does."

"I think the city council should run the city," said Councilman Jordan L. Martinelli Jr. "I think now the department heads do it."

"It's an intolerable situation," said Councilman Carleton G. E. Little.

The proposed change would leave the power to appoint and fire in the hands of the city manager. But a man removed as department head would have no recourse to the board of review.

Martinelli suggested that the appointments be for a definite term of two or four years. But this was not included in the ballot proposal.

CANDIDATES

school to the economic and business life of the community."

Harry Leff Jr. of Corte Madera supported the proposal, as did Robert E. Oliver of San Rafael. Oliver suggested that such discussions "should be led by a qualified instructor who would stimulate thinking."

Alan D. Ewen of Mill Valley also supported the proposal, saying, "Where there is no understanding, there can be no defense."

Incumbent George G. Washburn of San Anselmo, however, differed somewhat. He expressed fear that unguided discussion of controversial philosophies would be dangerous by permitting introduction of "erroneous and untrue statements." He advocated discussion of such subjects only "under competent supervision."

Incumbent Rupert Kempf of Sausalito was not present.

Candidates for the Tamalpais High School District Board were asked the same question.

Howard I. McGill of Tiburon, the incumbent candidate, said, "I favor it strongly." Joseph C. Marshall of Belvedere said, "We should teach both sides and permit frequent discussion."

Warren G. Lefort of Strawberry, himself foreign-born, declared: "We are now in a cold war and we must know what other countries are doing. We must learn to differentiate between human ideological feelings."

Harry Leff Jr., who also appeared as a candidate for the junior college board, supported discussions but strayed from the subject to lash out at reported indolence at the high school, saying, "Those who haven't the interest to stay in school should be given some sort of trade."

Chemist E. Richard De Lew of Strawberry, in supporting open discussions, added, "The student is entitled to know all the facts."

UNIFICATION ISSUE

The highly controversial subject of district unification was asked of the five candidates for the Mill Valley Elementary School District.

Mrs. Vera Woodworth, a staunch advocate of unification, favored unification of a district "of about 10,000" and suggested a combination of Mill Valley, Sausalito, Reed, Larkspur, Stinson Beach and Bolinas districts. She added that a countywide district would be advantageous for certain services and that Mill Valley, Sausalito and Reed would be a good geographical combination.

George M. Wood said he did not think tax saving would result but services should be improved. He felt that "we should accept the inevitable as a result of growth and development."

Mrs. Jean Rosse, incumbent board president, declared: "There is no justification for merging the Mill Valley district with all Marin districts. It would be unwieldy." She advocated continued study of possible smaller unifications.

Mrs. Evelyn McDougall expressed opposition to the entire county as creating too unwieldy a district.

Henry T. Malcheski of Strawberry said unification might eliminate some overhead costs but insisted that the primary need was for "more school," saying children should be learning more.

CHEATING QUESTION

As the meeting drew to a close and Mrs. S. J. Rice, moderator, asked for questions from the floor, George W. Wheelwright of Tamalpais Valley asked junior college board candidates about reports of a student who was recently caught cheating in a final examination.

"We heard of this cheating," Wheelwright stated, "but have never heard what disposition was made of the case."

Incumbent Washburn conceded he did not know what had happened to the case but said if the charges was true, the student should be expelled. He suggested that Wheelwright ask the same question of Mrs. Elizabeth M. Deedy, also a board member but not a candidate this year, who was seated in front of Wheelwright.

She answered that College President Ward H. Austin had not informed the board as to the disposition of the case. She said she also favored dismissal if the charge was proved.

Real Estate Views And Values

"Why isn't my house selling?" a friend asked the other day. "We have to leave town in another month and we would like to get our place sold before we go."

Well of course, that put me right on the spot. "Look, Glen," I said, "if you were going to sell your car, what would you do first?"

"I guess I'd have it cleaned and polished, and all the dents taken out of the fenders," he replied.

"Sure you would. Most folks do. But you'd be surprised how many fail to get their house in top shape for selling. Yet they have much more money invested in their house than in their car."

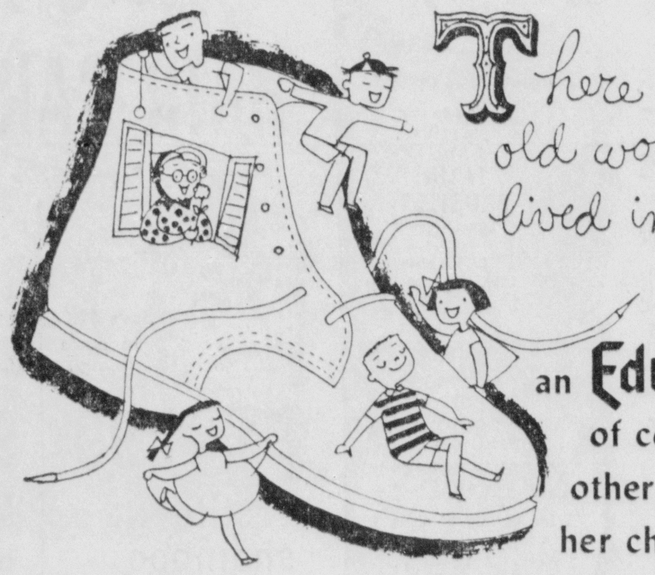

Nancy Kopf

"I get the point," he grinned. "I'll make it as attractive as possible. And fix up the screen door and shutters. Maybe even paint it."

Two weeks later we sold the house. It looked attractive, like a girl about to have her picture taken. And it appealed to several buyers.

UNIONIST FINED FOR ATTACKING EX-MARIN MAN

HONOLULU (AP) — Carpenters Union leader Jack C. Reynolds was fined $25 for attacking photographer Warren Roll of the Honolulu Star Bulletin. Roll is a former San Rafael Independent-Journal photographer.

Judge Harry Steiner imposed the fine yesterday and commented, "Some people take offense to having their pictures taken, but this is no reason for laying a hand on a photographer."

Roll tried to take a picture of J. F. Cambriano, another Carpenters Union official, as the latter arrived at Honolulu Airport April 14.

Casualties In Hunting Rose in '58

Eighteen hunters were killed during 1958 in accidents and another 102 were injured. In 1957, 14 were killed and 65 wounded.

"Carelessness, ignorance and irresponsibility are the triple causes of all the accidents. There wasn't one accident where one, two or all three were not present."

About a third of the total casualties and three-fourths of the fatalities occurred at range less than 1 yards, with most of them in open or light cover.

Swinging on game was listed as the major cause of casualties with 21 accidents. In second place—with 12 cases—was the victim moving into the line of fire. Shooter stumbling and falling accounted for 10 cases.

Deer hunting produced the greatest number of accidents—24. Five of them were fatalities. Quail hunting accidents totaled 19, pheasant hunting 15, rabbit 14 and duck hunting 13.

Mental Probe For Winters After Arrest

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Psychiatrists questioned comedian Jonathan Winters today to determine whether his latest "man from space" act was humorous or serious.

The moon-faced TV and night club funnyman was taken into custody by the harbor patrol yesterday on the sailing vessel Balclutha, which is on public exhibition at the city's embarcadero.

'SURE IRRATIONAL'

"He was sure irrational," said Anthony Trinchero, one of the three arresting officers. "You ask him his name and he says he is John Q from outer space and has been here for light years."

The officer said there was no indication that Winters had been drinking.

The vessel's caretaker, Julius Larsen, called police twice to complain about a man acting "suspiciously." On the first trip, the officers recognized Winters—who is playing at a local night club—and dismissed the incident as a publicity gag.

IN ARGUMENT

On the second call, they found Winters arguing with Larsen on the gangplank leading to the ship.

"He insisted he wanted to climb the rigging and said he would jump off the ship," Trinchero said. "Then he started to resist us and we had to use the handcuffs and cuff his hands together behind his back."

Winters was taken to San Francisco Hospital, where he gave his correct name but failed to give either his age or address. He was interviewed by a staff psychiatrist and placed in an isolation cell for observation.

The humorist has had a stormy engagement here.

There was a near-brawl during his first show over jokes he made at the expense of former President Harry S. Truman. On another occasion he delivered a lengthy dissertation on Alcoholics Anonymous — and once he broke into tears over a broken cigaret holder.

Death, Illness, Resignations Hit Pentagon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Death, illness and resignation are creating problems in the top civilian and military levels of the Defense Department.

Latest in this series is the announcement that Gen. Nathan F. Twining, 61-year-old chairman of the Joint Chief of Staff, has undergone major surgery.

VERY SATISFACTORY

The purpose of such analysis usually is to determine whether any growth in the tissue is benign or malignant. The announcement said Twining's condition after the operation was very satisfactory.

At any rate, the chairman of the strategy-making organization obviously will be absent from his post for several weeks.

Word of Twining's illness came as Donald A. Quarles, deputy secretary of defense, was being buried at Arlington National Cemetery.

Resignations elsewhere in the Pentagon official family also confront the administration with filling at least two sub-secretary posts.

FOREMOST PROBLEM

Filling the vacancy created by Quarles' death is the foremost problem. Various names mentioned in speculation include Asst. Secretary Wilfred J. McNeil, the Pentagon's comptroller; E. Perkins McGuire, assistant secretary for logistics, and Thomas S. Gates Jr., present Navy secretary.

Gates has submitted his resignation as secretary of the Navy, effective next month, but some thought he might agree to remain in Washington if offered the high defense post.

An opening exists in the Air Force secretary organization, created by the appointment of Richard E. Horner, assistant secretary for research and development, to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Solon Blocks Quick Approval Of Dillon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Russell B. Long (D-La.) raised a roadblock today to speedy Senate approval of C. Douglas Dillon's promotion to the No. 2 spot in the State Department.

When Dillon's nomination reaches the Senate floor, Long said, "I may speak for a day, or even two days, to illustrate why we have spent so many billions in other countries and in some instances gotten nothing but hatred in return, under the type of leadership represented by Mr. Dillon."

ONLY OPPONENT

Long is the only announced opponent of the nomination, which was received with enthusiasm yesterday by most of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Dillon faced more fire from another source today. He was called before a closed session of the committee for further questioning about putting secret labels on country-by-country breakdowns of foreign military aid.

Sen. Frank Church (D-Idaho) protested secret classification of military programs in Latin America.

DELAYS VOTE

The opposition of Long and Church delayed a committee vote on Dillon's nomination as first undersecretary of state. This is the spot Christian A. Herter vacated when he was named secretary to succeed the ailing John Foster Dulles.

The dispute over Dillon temporarily overshadowed consideration of the nomination of Ogden R. Reid, 33, former president of the New York Herald Tribune, as ambassador to Israel.

Reid, on the stand only briefly, was asked to return later for questioning on his qualifications.

Fair Trade Law Safe For 2 Years

The Assembly Governmental Efficiency and Economy Committee yesterday recommended a two-year interim study of a bill to repeal the law which allows setting of minimum retail prices on certain products.

Assemblyman S. C. Masterson (D-El Sobrante), author of the repealer, argued that the law lets big business "hornswoggle" the little merchant.

Fair trade supporters argued that the law has stood up under repeated court tests, and noted that frequent efforts at repeal have failed in the Legislature since the law was passed in 1933. The law supposedly eliminates cutthroat competition.

Opponents say little merchants could sell things cheaper because they don't have the overhead of large stores resulting from wrapping, delivery, service and charge accounts.

Tomorrow's world will have no place for mediocrity, six outstanding Marin students were told today at a recognition luncheon at Bob's of Marin in Corte Madera.

Checks for $100 and engraved medallions signifying leadership in scholastic achievements and extra-curricular activities were given the six during the luncheon sponsored by local savings and loan associations and the California Savings and Loan League.

After saying that mediocrity is doomed to oblivion, M. F. B. MacBan, who heads the statewide schools relations committee for the savings and loan league, declared opportunity "is greater than ever in our nation."

BRIGHT FUTURE

"Our nation," said he, "through business, professional and scientific opportunities, has a future brighter than ever before faced by high school seniors . . .

"My wish is that while you are cherishing the best of the present and the past, you will discard the worst and the mediocre. I hope that then you will substitute new ideas and principles that will lead to that new, brave world we all dream of."

Pointing out advances and progress made in science, medicine and political affairs passed on by past generations, McBan said, "all this should make it much easier for your generation to advance and make a better world."

AWARD WINNERS

Janet Evelyn Wightman, 18, Tomales, Tomales High School; Michele Ann Mareck, 17, of 100 Chamberlain street, Novato, Novato High School and John Karr Wolfe, 17, of 222 Woodland road, Kentfield, Redwood High School.

Fred F. Enemark of San Rafael, chairman of the county savings and loan companies' school relations committee, was luncheon chairman.

Marin County Savings and Northwestern Savings in San Rafael and Ross Valley Savings in San Anselmo were program participants and sponsors of the luncheon attended by parents and teachers of the honored students and many Marin executives.

Reed School Board Adopts Tentative $501,137 Budget

Reed Union School District trustees last night tentatively adopted a $501,137 budget for the 1959-60 fiscal year, based on continuation of the present $2.10 school tax rate.

Formal adoption will follow a public hearing in August.

Trustees decided to instruct architectural pre-planners to develop the approximate nine-acre Del Mar Estates school site into a seventh and eighth grade school with conversion alternatives for a kindergarten through eighth grade school.

"Although the site might not be large enough to handle all the seventh and eighth graders in the district in five or six years, a single site for the two grades would be ideal," Supt. Paul R. Stouffer said.

"Conversion of Reed School, now being used to departmentalize seventh and eighth grades, would be difficult," he said.

In answer to a question by Trustee Richard J. MacLaury as to whether textbooks supplied by the district to children were adequate in quantity, Stouffer said next year they would be adequate, with science textbooks supplied to each child in the fourth through eighth grades.

Trustees granted a four-day time extension to contractor A. Von Rotz on the Bel Aire School classroom construction; approved an audio-visual contract with the county for the coming school year, and instructed Stouffer to prepare a procedural plan for the evaluation study to be received by San Francisco State College this month.

San Diego is the southernmost city in the United States, just 15 miles north of the Mexican border.

Measure Modifying Death Penalty Passed

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO—A bill easing the mandatory death penalty for a life term convict found guilty of assaulting another person while serving his term was passed by the Legislature yesterday. The Senate concurred in a minor assembly amendment and sent it to the governor for signature.

The bill, by Marin Sen. John F. McCarthy, would give discretion to the court or jury trying the case, if the victim does not die within a year and a day of the assault.

The court or jury may designate a life sentence with no possibility of parole for nine years, under the new law.

Two other McCarthy bills were signed into law by the governor.

One requires that the county counsel or district attorney prepare an impartial analysis of all county bond propositions for submission to the voters with their sample ballots. This would be in addition to the pro and con arguments which the law already provides for.

The second new law permits persons confined in a state or local correctional facilities to have up to $40 which would be free from attachment and execution.

The Senate yesterday passed to the Assembly another McCarthy bill which would allow the Marin County Housing Authority and Redevelopment Agency to contract with Sausalito School District to furnish services and facilities in the project. In effect, the bill would continue for another two years the arrangement already in effect.

Hub Library Tax Set At 8 Cents

The San Anselmo Library Board has committed itself to an operating budget next year financed by the same tax rate as this year—eight cents per $100 assessed valuation—reported J Edward Jones, board member.

Jones said three cents of this year's 11-cent library tax went into a building fund to remodel the library. He said the board should have specifications for the expansion project at its June 8 meeting. Once he has the figures, Jones said, he will be able to estimate the tax rate needed for the 1959-60 building fund.

Any increase in librarians' salaries would follow increases granted to other city employees, the library board decided.

The board on Monday night hired Faith Merian, daughter of one of the librarians, to help out six hours a week on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday nights.

AIRLINER'S WRECKAGE — Smoking remains of Capital Airlines Constellation lie at foot of embankment over which it plunged while landing at Charleston, W. Va., airport last night, killing two persons and injuring at least six. Just 48 minutes later, another Capital airliner exploded in air near Baltimore, killing 31. (AP Wirephoto)

Airliner Crew Says AF Jet Grazed Plane

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—An American Airlines crew has charged that an Air Force jet missed its airliner by about 50 feet yesterday near Bakersfield.

There were 52 persons aboard the plane, which was bound for San Francisco. The flight originated in Houston, Tex.

The pilot, Capt. Ralph McPhee, said the jet fighter passed directly in front of his plane while he was flying at 16,000 feet. He identified it as either an F86 or an F100.

McPhee said it happened so fast, he had no time to take evasive action. He reported the incident immediately to air traffic control by radio.

Co-pilot Dale Shimon said he just had time to point out the jet to McPhee before it zipped across their flight path.

"It looked like a barn—didn't miss us by more than 45 or 50 feet," Shimon said.

Burdell Trustees Will Rent Again

Burdell School District pupils will again attend school next year in a room at the Our Lady of Loretto Catholic Parochial School in Novato, Burdell trustees decided last night.

Burdell's 12-pupil student body has been housed in a room rented from the parochial school since the historic Burdell school was destroyed by fire last December.

No formal arrangement has yet been made by the Burdell board and administrators of the Catholic school for next year's rental, but it is expected the rent will continue at $65 per month.

Burdell has pupils in first through seventh grades, with a single teacher.

The board deferred consideration of its 1959-60 budget until its June meeting.

33 Killed In Two Airliner Crashes

BALTIMORE (AP)—A Capital Airlines Viscount turboprop airliner blew apart on a nonstop flight from New York to Atlanta late yesterday, scattering wreckage and the bodies of all 31 aboard over freshly plowed fields east of Baltimore.

Just 48 minutes earlier, another Capital airliner, a four-engine Constellation, plunged over a 200-foot embankment at the Charleston, W.Va., airport, 300 miles to the west, as it came in for a landing. It immediately burst into flames. Two bodies were removed from the charred wreckage and six persons were hospitalized.

FIRST TWIN TRAGEDY

An official at the Civil Aeronautics Board said it was the first time in his memory that a single airline had had two fatal crashes in one day.

The CAB had a large crew of investigators at the scene of the Baltimore crash probing the twisted remains of the Viscount to try to determine the cause of the tragedy.

The weather may have played a part in both crashes.

CAUGHT IN DRAFT?

Flight engineers and others said they thought the plane was caught in a severe updraft or downdraft which pulled off part of a wing. The fuel lines in the wing snapped spraying fuel into the burning engine. The quick combustion was a low order explosion which tore the plane to pieces.

However, that simply was a theory. The CAB wants proof of what actually happened.

Rain was still falling slightly at Charleston when the big Constellation came in for a landing at the airport, built by slicing off the top of a hill. The plane seemed to turn before it slowed down, witnesses said, and it tumbled off the brink of the hill. It immediately burst into flames.

A 20-year-old stewardess, Nancy Marshall, was credited with getting many passengers out of the flaming wreckage. She forced open a door after several passengers had been unable to push it open.

"It's not a door that swings out," she explained. "It's a sliding door. All I did was roll it back."

Pieces of the Viscount were scattered for more than a mile.

It took more than three hours for droves of police and volunteers to collect the bodies. The last found was a stewardess, buried under one of the sections.

A Catholic priest gave last rites toward a section of fuselage, figuring there were bodies under it. There were.

The four engines were found within a few hundred yards. The propeller of one was missing.

Would-Be Leaper Is V. A. Patient

Joseph Contreras, whose attempt early yesterday to leap from the Golden Gate Bridge was thwarted by a taxi driver, has been idenitfied as a walkaway from a Veteran Administration mental hospital in Denver.

Authorities at San Francisco Hospital said the 30-year-old patient was traced to the Denver hospital after he was taken to the San Francisco City Prison.

Contreras had taken a ride to mid-span with cab driver Ralph Vernum, 35. He ordered Varnum to stop, but the cab driver with help of bus commuters, prevented Contreras from jumping.

Enough Funds To Cut Debt Sought By Ike

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower said today that he wants not only a balanced budget from Congress, but enough federal revenue to start reducing the staggering public debt.

In discussing federal revenues at his news conference he did not ask for any new income taxes.

REQUEST TO CONGRESS

He also told reporters he was sending an immediate request to the House and Senate for speedier action on badly needed legislation to increase the federal lending authority for insuring mortgages, raising the gasoline tax for highway construction and legislation to cope with the mounting wheat surplus.

The President said that unless Congress speeded it up, its action in these three vital areas, the country would suffer.

In talking about the budget, Eisenhower called on not only Congress, but labor and business management for sensible, reasonable action to combat inflation, hold down government spending and start reducing the towering federal debt.

$284 BILLION

Latest Treasury figures show that as of May 8 the public debt was $284,824,191,460.18.

Eisenhower said his balanced budget proposed for fiscal 1960 actually was a minimum target. He said that the government, without delay, ought to be building up a surplus to whittle down the debt and thus reduce what he called the unconscionable annual cost of interest on the public debt.

As for the wheat surplus problem, the President said it is worsening instead of improving.

FISHLINE TRAP HALTS ANTI-SIGN CRUSADE

TORRANCE, Los Angeles County (UPI)—Real estate dealer Phil Mahan, who used a tricky fishline to trap a beautification-minded community leader in the act of swiping "for sale" and "for rent" signs from homes, said today he would not prosecute.

"He was evidently indulging in a civic beautification crusade," Mahan said. "I guess he got 200 signs before I caught him. Seventy-one of them were mine—the others belonged to other realty dealers."

Mahan said he spent three weeks on stakeout in the fashionable Hollywood Riviera section before he finally caught the sign-hater, whom he would not identify. He snagged him by sleeping inside a house and running a fishline from his wrist to the sign outside. In the wee hours yesterday the string awoke Mahan, and he caught his man.

"I have a lot of respect and admiration for him," he said. "I'm not going to prosecute. This has been going on for three months, and now we know who was doing it."

New trustees are Stephen Heller and Foster Clark. Re-elected were Dr. Robert Clarke, Wilbur Mathewson, Phillip Parkinson, Roy Okerstrom, Mrs. Frances Zander and Mrs. Virginia Bostick.

Dr. Clarke serves as president, and Mrs. Zander as secretary.

Drunk Driver Gets Jail, Fine Of $250

Merle H. Hoy, 25, of 8 Elm avenue, San Anselmo, must spend five days in jail and pay a $250 fine for his second drunken driving offense.

Judge Albert F. Scheidecker of Sebastopol, sitting in Marin Municipal Court, sentenced Hoy yesterday for drunken driving last April 1 on San Anselmo avenue. He was previously convicted of drunken driving in Crescent City in June, 1954.

San Rafael Apartment Plan Killed

A proposed apartment project in the Bret Harte area of San Rafael was killed last night by the San Rafael Planning Commission because of strong protests by residents.

Henry Ghilotti wanted to build apartments on about four acres on Irwin street near Bret Harte Park, between Bret Harte Meadows and Heights. Property owners objected on grounds Irwin street is too narrow, and traffic congestion would cause increased hazards. They want to keep the area single family residential.

In other action last night, the planning commissioners:

1. Approved an office for Mosher Brothers at 407 First street.
2. Granted a two-lot subidivision for Al Fowler on Forbes avenue.
3. Denied two setback variances.

Air-Sea Hunt For Killer Shark Fails

Sid Seed of Commodore Aviation, Sausalito, yesterday piloted a plane past the Golden Gate in an attempt to locate the shark that killed Albert Kogler, 18, last week.

Seed was doing spotter duty for the 50-foot cabin cruiser Maria Alicia, which sailed out from the St. Francis Yacht Club to the waters off Baker's Beach where Kogler was attacked.

The boat crew dumped 60 pounds of beef liver into the waters to test a theory that the killer shark stayed in the area after having tasted blood. But the only things they attracted were sea gulls.

The hunt was organized by Dave Baxter, former San Francisco radio announcer.

Aboard the ship were three riflemen and two harpoon experts. If they caught the shark, they planned to examine the contents of its stomach to determine whether it was the one that killed Kogler.

Seed said sharks are easy to spot from the air if they swim near the surface of the water.

He said the expedition had been organized since last Sunday but bad weather and organizational trouble involving the boat crew prevented an earlier excursion.

He said Baxter may try again.

CHEVY'S THE HOTTEST ONE AGAIN!

HOTTEST LOOKING, HOTTEST SAVING,

HOTTEST SELLING OF THE LEADING LOW-PRICED 3

What we mean—this new Chevy's gone and whipped up a one-car heat wave. Its fresh, flashing style (nothing warmed over here!) caught on right away, of course. And on no other American car will you find a V8 that actually puts out better than one horsepower for every cubic inch of displacement.

As for getting the most out of a gallon, a pair of Chevy 6's came in one-two in their class in this year's Mobilgas Economy Run—ahead of every other full-size car. And the winning average over the Los Angeles to Kansas City route was a hot 22.38 m.p.g.

But, impressive as these records are, they can only hint at why Chevrolet's '59's hottest selling car. To really find out, just drop down to your dealer's and drive one.

CHEVROLET

No wonder more people are buying Chevrolets than any other car!

Try the hot one—see your local authorized Chevrolet dealer!

Contract Let For Second San Rafael High

Board Of Education Awards Work To $1.2 Million Bidder

Ray I. Johnson of Kentfield will build San Rafael's new high school south of Terra Linda at a cost of $1,240,000.

The San Rafael Board of Education last night awarded the job to Johnson, who was lowest of a dozen bidders.

The total price includes some site drainage work, all academic buildings, and several alternates including a music building and several covered walkways. The new high school, with a capacity for 700 students, will be ready for use in September, 1960.

Webster D. Wilson, 38, director of instruction at San Rafael High School, is principal of the second high school.

The school board also accepted the resignations of 10 teachers and hired five new ones. New teachers are Mrs. Miriam Galliver, social studies and English, high school; Miss Billie Jane Ruschaupt, kindergarten; Ernest L. Caillat Jr., art, high school; Richard Read, social studies and physical education, high school, and Miss Betty Merkle, high school English.

Those who resigned include Carolyn Solari, Rudolph Genetti, Mrs. Kaleo Schroeder, Mrs. Marion Faustman, SC. R. Congdon, Robert Gari, Miss Debbora Bissiri, Luther Greider, James Alogdelis and F. P. Vaughn.

Federal Work On Trinity Plant Backed

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Two requests for federal construction of the Trinity River Project power plant moved up to the Assembly floor today with strong backing from the Assembly Water Committee.

Ten Democrats and three Republicans lined up together in the 13-6 vote yesterday favoring the resolutions by Assemblymen Bruce F. Allen (R-Los Gatos) and Edwin L. Z'Berg (D-Sacramento).

Both measures oppose the Eisenhower administration's "partnership" proposal for the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. to build the plant and run it for 50 years.

Robert H. Gerdes, PG&E executive vice president, said private power facilities would save federal money. Z'Berg replied that the principle of giving public agencies preference in sale of power is at stake.

Hawk Eyes Find Lost Model Plane

It took hawk eyes to spot the miniature Cessna that soared out of control on Sunday mornings and disappeared toward Greenbrae.

The man whose eyes lighted on it was Pierce G. Hawk.

Hawk, a KGO-TV cameraman in San Francisco, was headed toward his Fairfax home at 9 a.m. Sunday when he glanced up and saw the model plane, intact and neatly landed on a small Bret Harte ridge.

Last night Ray Randolph of 55 Margarita drive, San Rafael, and his 5-year-old son went to Hawk's home at 251 Oak Manor drive, Fairfax, to recover the model plane, which was reposing in the middle of the living room floor under the fascinated eyes of Hawk's two children.

Fire Truck Gets Radio

Marinwood's fire truck now is hooked up by radio with other fire departments in the county. A communications radio was installed in the department truck this morning at the county communications center, Chief Donald Ray said.

HUGO RINALDI
Offered Stanford fellowship

School Music Chief Gets Fellowship

Hugo Rinaldi, San Rafael High School music director, has been offered a fellowship at Stanford University which will enable him to complete his work for a Ph. D. in music education.

But, Rinaldi said today, he hesitated long over accepting the offer because "it means taking off for a year."

Rinaldi's request for a year's leave of absence was approved last night by the San Rafael Board of Education. He will get one-half pay during his sabbatical leave.

WOULD TEACH

The fellowship would pay all Rinaldi's expenses for the final year of study for a Ph. D. He would teach a class in music education at Stanford.

Rinaldi described it as "a great honor, but one which would mean a financial loss."

Many accolades have come Rinaldi's way during his 10 years as music director at San Rafael High. He took the job on his graduation from San Francisco State College.

UNUSUAL HIRING

"It came about in an unusual way," he related today. "The Independent-Journal ran an editorial about the state of the music program in the San Rafael schools. As a result of that, Supt. Oliver Hartzell was looking for someone to head up the music program. He called me and offered me the job.

"I was young and brash and was sure I could handle it."

Rinaldi had lived in San Rafael since childhood, attending San Rafael High and Marin Junior College. "I am too happy here to want to move any place else," he said today. "These incidents happen all the time."

HE'D BETTER NOT VISIT IN THIS CITY

OPORTO, Portugal (UPI) — The people of Oporto were out today for the head of the National Information Secretariat cartographer who drew up a new government map designed to attract foreign tourists to Portugal.

He left out Oporto, the country's second largest city, with half a million inhabitants.

Cost Cools Council To Lease-Buy Plan

As it has to many others, the high cost of buying on time came as something of a shock last night to San Anselmo's city councilmen.

The installment purchase contemplated, in their case, is a second firehouse, to be located on a still-unobtained lot at Butterfield road and Arroyo avenue.

City Manager Arthur W. Brewer reported he had been unsuccessful in finding an "angel" to finance building the firehouse and get his money back, with interest, from the city over a period of years. But he had on hand a representative of J. B. Hanauer and Co., municipal financial consultants who specialize in such things.

The Hanauer representative, Robert G. Bulot of Monrovia, Los Angeles County, then gave the council a run-down of how his firm would propose to go about the firehouse financing.

A non-profit corporation would be formed, he said, which would issue bonds against the lease with the city. The bonds would be tax-exempt. Such a scheme has been used to finance many municipal projects, including San Francisco's Civic Center garage.

The Hanauer company's fees would come out of the financing, he said. On a $60,000 firehouse, they would add about $15,000.

The bonds, he said, could be sold at about 4¾ to 5 per cent, "about the same rate as revenue bonds." The $75,000 financing would be retired in 20 years at $6,000 a year.

Councilman William Franchini pricked up his ears.

"How much would that make it in 20 years?" he asked.

"About $120,000," said Bulot.

Their enthusiasm for the "lease-option" firehouse financing plan visibly cooled, the city fathers, on suggestion of Mayor Arthur W. Smith, asked Bulot to deliver the city manager a copy of the proposed type of lease agreement—after Councilmen Franchini and Carleton G. E. Little had won assurances the city would not be committing itself to anything.

2nd Firehouse Studied In Corte Madera

The possibility of building a second Corte Madera fire station in Mariner's Cove, east of Highway 101, was discussed last night at a meeting of the Corte Madera Volunteer Firemen's Assn.

"It's only in the chit-chat stage now," Fire Chief Frank L. Nelson said today, "but it's our hope that a dwelling-type station can go up there within the next couple of years."

Nelson said Billings-Hutchison Co., developers of Mariner's Cove, donated a lot in the subdivision for a future firehouse site The lot is at the edge of San Clemente Creek, across Paradise drive from Byrnes Manufacturing Co.

The chief noted that fire trucks from the town's only station at Willow avenue and Tamalpais drive have a relatively long run to the rapidly growing subdivision areas east of the freeway .

He said the Volunteer Firemen's Assn. plans to discuss the matter of a second station soon with Town Councilmen Albert E. Kogler and Edward W. Colthurst, who serve as Corte Madera's fire commissioners.

DOING SOME ADVANCED CLASSWORK

RENO (UPI) — A major course at Stead Air Force Base's survival training school is "sneaking and peeking" — or how to move through enemy territory without being caught.

Four of the school's instructors were caught at it before dawn yesterday, in the hall of a women's dormitory at the University of Nevada.

Play Day Tomorrow At Tomales High

The athletic field of Tomales High School will be a bevy of activity tomorrow with 500 elementary school youngsters expected for a play day put on by the high school's Boys Club.

The annual event is planned for the entire student bodies of the nine schools which send graduates to Tomales High School: Pt. Reyes, West Marin, Marshall and Tomales Elementary schools in Marin County, and Bloomfield, American Valley, Watson, Potter and Bay schools in Sonoma County.

Beginning at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning boys and girls will compete separately in a series of races, football throws and punts, baseball throw for accuracy, basketball free throw, and broad jumps.

Ribbons will be awarded to the four highest in each competition.

The girls will wear pedal pushers or jeans for the occasion.

The "midgets" (smaller children) will be under special supervision of senior girls. All the youngsters will congregate with their own teachers to eat bag lunches.

The Boys Club, made up of the 87 boys at Tomales High School, is headed by president Ned Mantua. Faculty sponsors are Harold Janney and Milton Castleberry.

County Road Plan May Block Novato School Site Purchase

Novato Unified School District trustees expressed fear last night that newly disclosed county plans to build a road through the 10-acre Connell property off South Novato boulevard might prevent its approval by the state Allocations Board as a site for a new elementary school.

Supt. William J. J. Smith disclosed the county's plan and warned the trustees they might be forced to look elsewhere for a new school site.

Trustee Peter J. Ferrarese said he would attend a hearing by the county planning commission at 2 p.m. next Monday to discuss the extension of Hill avenue through the property.

Trustees last week agreed to purchase the property, which lies south of the Nave Shopping Center, at $6,000 an acre, subject to state approval

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Airlift Fete Criticized

LONDON (AP) — The Soviet News Agency Tass charged today that airlift anniversary celebrations in Berlin were provocatory and aimed at worsening the political atmosphere during the Geneva conference.

The Tass dispatch, broadcast by Moscow radio, cited recent visits to West Berlin by high-ranking U.S. generals and high-altitude flights to the city by American planes as other examples of provocation.

Thor Zips 1,500 Miles

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —A Thor intermediate range ballistic missile, reportedly carrying a tiny camera in its nose, has streaked 1,500 miles over the Atlantic on what the Air Force called a highly successful flight test.

Thirty-nine minutes after the blastoff yesterday a small data capsule that popped out of the nose cone near the end of the trip was recovered from the ocean.

The camera, equipped with high speed film because of the 10,000 m.p.h. velocities encountered on the flight, reportedly was aboard as a secondary experiment to record the nose cone's fiery re-entry through the earth's atmosphere.

Singer In Hospital

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Anna Maria Alberghetti is recovering from a minor operation to correct a nasal obstruction that hindered her breathing.

A hospital spokesman said her condition is good and the 22-year-old Italian-born singer will be home within two or three days.

Seniors 'Thank' Faculty

NEW ROCHELLE, N.Y. (AP)—The 170 seniors of the College of New Rochelle voted yesterday to contribute $200 apiece after graduation for use in raising teachers' salaries.

'Biggest' Flare On Sun

SACRAMENTO PEAK OBSERVATORY, N.M. (AP)—An explosion on the sun, described as one of the strongest radio flares ever recorded, kicked up a magnetic storm in the earth's atmosphere Sunday.

Now it is dying out. Astronomers say they expect the last of it tomorrow, along with the last of accompanying radio trouble.

Harry Ramsey, chief observer at this observatory, said the solar flare was about 100,000 miles in length and 50,000 miles wide.

Food For Firemen

WATERVILLE, N.Y. (AP)—Six firemen rushed to a downtown alarm—but paused before putting out the fire. First, they had a quick snack with a half dozen boys roasting potatoes in the back yard. Then they turned extinguishers on the camp fire.

Reds Shell Matsu Isle

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Chinese Communists shelled Peikantang Island in the Matsu group last night for the first time this year.

The Reds fired 23 shells at the 2½ square miles of island only seven miles off the mainland.

The 14-minute attack came on an even-numbered day, when the Communist guns on the mainland facing the Quemoys and other Nationalist offshore islands normally are silent.

Lorre Recovery Seen

GRANADA, Spain (AP)—Veteran movie actor Peter Lorre has been taken off the critical list but faces a long convalescence from a heart attack.

Castro Cautioned

PANAMA (AP) — Panama's government has told Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro to watch his tongue if he has hopes of getting back 86 Cubans who invaded Panama in an abortive attempt to a revolution.

Foreign Minister Miguel Moreno Jr. yesterday rejected a request for repatriation of the Cubans made by Cuban Under Secretary of State Eric Aguero.

Moreno told Aguero that the possibilities of repatriation were not helped by Castro's criticisms of President Ernesto de la Guardia's government for getting the help of the Organization of American States against the invaders.

Actress Sued

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Italian actress Gia Scala was sued for $16,581 damages yesterday by a salesman who claimed he suffered neck and back injuries in an auto collision with her car.

Sidney Lang charged in his superior court suit Miss Scala was driving a car which collided with his auto Jan. 22.

Harry Barris III

BURBANK (UPI)—Harry Barris, 50, one of the original Rhythm Boys with Bing Crosby in the 1930's, was under observation today at St. Joseph's Hospital for an ailment believed to be lung congestion.

Snow Falls In Midwest

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Icy winds up to 93 miles an hour battered the Lake Superior region last night and a light snowfall powdered sections of the upper Midwest.

The mid-May snow across parts of North Dakota, Minnesota and upper Michigan was borne on northwesterly winds averaging 30 to 50 miles an hour.

Missile Strike Delayed

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —A federal mediator meets again tomorrow with Carpenters Union and management officials in an attempt to avert a strike at the missile test center here.

A stormy session Tuesday settled nothing, but did result in postponement of a strike at least until the meeting with mediator John A. Kenney of Tampa.

The Carpenters Union seeks higher wages from the Patrick Air Force Base Contractors Assn.

Summer Program Announced

Sausalito School District students today were to take notices home announcing the summer school program scheduled during July.

This is third year of the summer session. There were more than 250 students enrolled last year, said Supt. Marcus F. Davis.

The program this year will be held at two schools, Robert D. Thompson, Richardson Bay School principal, announced. Pupils in grades one through seven will attend Richardson Bay School. Pupils from one through four and living in Sausalito will attend Central School.

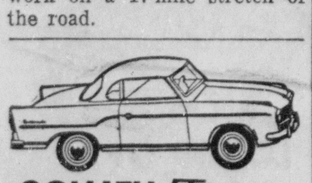

Children must have approval of both parents and principal to attend, Thompson said. No transportation will be provided by the district. There will be no fee charged.

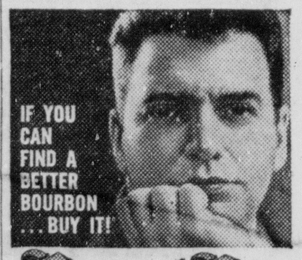

Tioga Pass Road Opens Earliest In 20 Years

YOSEMITE (UPI) — Yosemite National Park's Tioga Pass road was opened for the summer season today.

The opening is the earliest since 1939.

Tibet Rebellion Dying Out; Lack Of Weapons Blamed

NEW DELHI (AP)—The rebellion in Tibet appears to be dying. It may already be dead.

Reports reaching the border towns of Kalimpong and Gangtok indicate the uprising of Khampa tribesmen, which flared fiercely late in March and early April, has been snuffed out by the superior guns of Red Chinese occupation forces.

The provisional government which the resistance forces proclaimed a month ago has not been heard from.

Refugees straggling out of the Himalayan land of the lamas picture it as held firmly under the heel of Chinese overlords determined to prove they can rule without public approval—and without the Dalai Lama if need be.

Refugees say the main reason the revolt failed was lack of weapons. The handmade rifles and clubs of the Khampas proved no match for Chinese artillery and machine guns.

Reports published in New Dehli say that nearly half the 10,000 refugees who have flocked into India and the border states of Sikkim and Bhutan are Khampas. Many are believed to have been wounded as they fled.

Gyangtse, where the rebels were strong enough six weeks ago to march away the Chinese commissar at gunpoint, now lies quiet and subdued under Chinese guns. One arrival from there said the huge monastery was under Red guard and that pilgrims had to get clearance from Red troops.

Honduran Rebels Repulsed, Flee

TEGUCIAGALPA, Honduras (AP)—About 500 Honduran rebels were reported in flight today after an unsuccessful attempt to seize Gracias, an old trading center near the Guatemalan frontier.

The government said civilians helped troops rout the armed band when it attacked Gracias, the capital of Lempira state, on Monday night.

The attack on Gracias was the latest in a series of attempts to spark off a revolution since President Ramon Villeda Morales came to power 18 months ago.

SUMMIT TALKS IN U. S.?

Visit By Khrushchev Seen Almost Certain

By JOHN SCALI

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower administration appears reconciled to a possible visit by Premier Nikita Khrushchev to the United States this summer.

Top officials are talking seriously about whether to combine a Khrushchev trip with a summit conference in some American city.

This signals a change in attitude by authorities whose views would be important in deciding both issues. Until now, they have stressed the difficulties involved in a Khrushchev visit or choosing an American site for a summit conference.

If plans for a summertime summit meeting collapse, there is some prospect the bouncy Soviet leader will force the issue by asking to be allowed to open the Soviet Exposition in the New York Coliseum June 30.

President Eisenhower probably would say "yes" to such a request. The President would have no alternative, many officials believe, now that the Soviets have agreed to allow Vice President Richard M. Nixon to open an American National Exposition in Moscow July 25.

Khrushchev has made no official move yet to set up an American visit. But Soviet authorities in Moscow have made it known that "a senior official" undoubtedly would go to New York to open the Soviet exhibit.

The Soviets are believed holding off a decision as to whom to send until they see how much progress the foreign ministers meeting in Geneva makes in setting a time and place for a summit conference.

If an American site is agreed upon and an August date fixed, Khrushchev probably would send someone else to the fair.

The roly poly Soviet dictator is known to be anxious to visit the United States, mainly to strengthen his prestige at home and abroad.

In a speech to the Soviet party congress in Moscow Feb. 5, he said Eisenhower was discriminating against him by making it difficult to visit the United States in the guise of a private citizen as did Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan last January.

Birmingham, Ala., is one of the few places in the world where coal, limestone and iron ore—all three needed in steel manufacturing—are found.

MESSAGE OF IMPORTANCE — Contractor David B. McDougall of Boardwalk No. 1, Larkspur, records telephone message to Larkspur School District voters urging "Yes" vote next Tuesday on proposed $267,000 school bond issue. Special messages, recorded by prominent citizens twice daily at Corte Madera home of Trustee Doris Barck, may be heard by dialing WAbash 4-2313.

Need For Larkspur School Bonds Told

Voters of Larkspur School District will be asked to approve a $267,000 bond issue at next Tuesday's school election.

Passage of the measure would bring the district to bonding capacity next year. This would qualify it for state aid toward purchase of a fourth elementary school site in the Mariner's Cove area, east of highway 101.

Larkspur School District now operates Neil Cummins and Larkspur-Corte Madera Schools. A third school is being built on a filled site between Corte Madera Creek and Larkspur's Magnolia avenue.

District trustees and Supt. Carl Tivel say a fourth school will be needed to accommodate pupils from the rapidly growing subdivision areas east of the freeway.

The alternative, they point out, is more crowded classrooms, already a major cause of concern. Average size of district classes is 32 pupils. Enrollment is expected to total 1,639 in September, a gain of 150 pupils.

"The new Larkspur school will give only temporary relief," Tivel said. "We really needed it at the beginning of this year rather than next."

He said the district is eligible for state loans only if authorized by the voters to bond itself to capacity.

Required bonding for all districts is the same: 95 per cent of 5 per cent of the district's assessed valuation at the time a state allocation is made.

"This district," said Tivel, "along with many others in the county and state, cannot meet its site, building and equipment needs without state funds. The $267,000 is estimated to be the maximum amount the state would specify any time this fiscal year or next."

Tivel and the school board members stress that under present state formula, the proposed bond issue should not increase the district's 48-cent tax rate for bond retirement and repayment of state loans.

DEFER REPAYMENT

District Auditor Lawrence Weseman said the state would defer its loan repayment requirements by an amount equal to the requirements of the bonds.

"Thus," said Weseman, "the new issue, if entirely 'eligible,' would take the place of state loan repayments, and the date at which state loans are repaid is extended."

The proposed bond issue has been endorsed by the Neil Cummins and Larkspur-Corte Madera Parent-Teacher Assns., Larkspur-Corte Madera Dads Club, Larkspur Chamber of Commerce, Mayor Roger F. Morse of Corte Madera and Mayor Daniel Allen of Larkspur.

A citizens' committee headed by John P. Keegan of 10 Paloma drive, Corte Madera, is conducting an intensive campaign for passage of the measure.

TELEPHONE SERVICE

The committee has arranged a special telephone service, lining up volunteers to make one-minute recordings urging a "yes" vote next Tuesday.

Two separate messages by prominent citizens of Larkspur and Corte Madera may be heard each day by dialing WAbash 4-2313.

Incorporation Would End Sewer District

Novato Sanitary District directors were told Monday night that the district would go out of existence if Novato were incorporated.

James T. Morton, counsel for the district, told directors that both the $40,000 general fund and the $115,000 expansion funds would become the city's money and could be used as the city council determined.

However, he said, any funds which are earmarked for established obligations, and monies held aside for settlement of pending cases involving the right of eminent domain, could not legally be used for other purposes by the city.

The sanitary district's boundaries lie within the proposed limits of the city.

Directors offered the Church of Christ of Novato $1,000 for a 50-by-50-foot piece of property off Olive avenue near Railroad avenue, where the district plans to build a lift station. The church had asked $1,500 for the property.

5 Seeking 2 Seats On Hub City School Board

San Anselmo Elementary School District has openings for two trustees, and five residents want the jobs.

Voters will make the decision next Tuesday.

Terms of William R. Davis and Mrs. Claire I. Bailey on the board are expiring. But neither wants another three-year term.

One former trustee, Philip S. Bundschu, would like another term, however. And also in the race for either of the two vacancies are Mrs. Ross Eiserich, Mrs. Mary Ann Hedin, Johnnie V. Holm and Edward Vincent O'Bid.

Whoever is elected will inherit financial worries, despite a 10-cent tax increase which squeaked through by 42 votes last November. James R. Jordan, assistant county superintendent, told San Anselmo district trustees in March that the district will start the new fiscal year $35,000 "in the red," unless state appropriations are increased.

Willing to face this problem, along with others that may arise in connection with scheduled dissolution of the confederation of San Anselmo, Kentfield, Fairfax School Districts next year, are the five candidates:

Philip S. Bundschu, 42, of 421 the Alameda, is an engineer with Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. in San Rafael. He served two years by appointment on the San Anselmo School Board, and was defeated for election two years ago.

Bundschu is a Marin County native, born in Ross. His parents were Bay Area pioneers. He grew up in Sonoma county, attending Santa Rosa High School and Junior College.

He served in the Army in World War II and participated in the occupation of Berlin after the war's end. He is now a major in the California National Guard.

He is a member of the Marin County Committee on School District Organization, which is studying various district merger proposals. He is also a member of the Society of California Pioneers, National Guard Assns. of the U. S. and California and Armed Forces Communications and Electronics Assn.

Bundschu and his wife, Mary, have two sons and two daughters, all still at home.

Rose E. Eiserich, 45, of 141 Meadowcroft drive, is also a native of the region, having been born in Sonoma County. She attended schools there and a fashion art school in San Francisco. Her husband is Eric W. Eiserich, a buyer for a San Francisco firm.

Before giving up her career to devote her time to rearing her son and daughter, Mrs. Eiserich was a fashion model, a dress and millinery designer and operated a circulating library and gift shop in Fairfax.

Mrs. Eiserich is a Cub Scout den mother, a Blue Bird leader, Camp Fire Girls guardian, and adult adviser to church youth groups and Sunday school teacher in the Family Church of Marin. She is also program and art chairman of the Republican Women of Marin, Federated.

Mary Ann Hedin, 34, wife of Dr. Roger Hedin of 182 Oak avenue, is a native of Minneapolis with a degree in library science from University of Minnesota and additional education at Great Falls College of Education and Washington State Teachers College.

She was a librarian in Minneapolis and in a U. S. Armed Forces library in Japan. She was chairman of the citizen committee in San Anselmo for the recent Tamalpais High School District tax increase election. She is a member of the Council of Christian Education and superintendent of the youth department of the First Presbyterian Church of San Anselmo.

Mrs. Hedin is also a member of the American Assn. of University Women and the Marin County Medical Wives. She and her physician husband have three sons and a daughter.

Johnnie V. Holm, 29, of 16 Fairview court is a civil engineer employed by Suerdrup and Parcel Engineering Co. of San Francisco. He was born in Klamath Falls, Ore., and holds a bachelor's degree from Oregon State College and a master's degree from University of Minnesota.

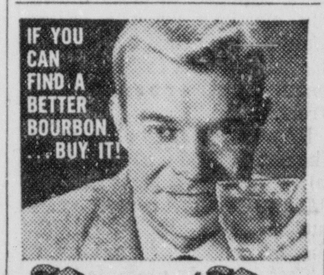

Holms served in the Korean war with the rank of first lieutenant.

He and his wife, Jean, have a daughter and son.

Edward Vicent O'Bid, 48, of 9 West court, is a dental technician employed in San Francisco. He is a native of Chi-

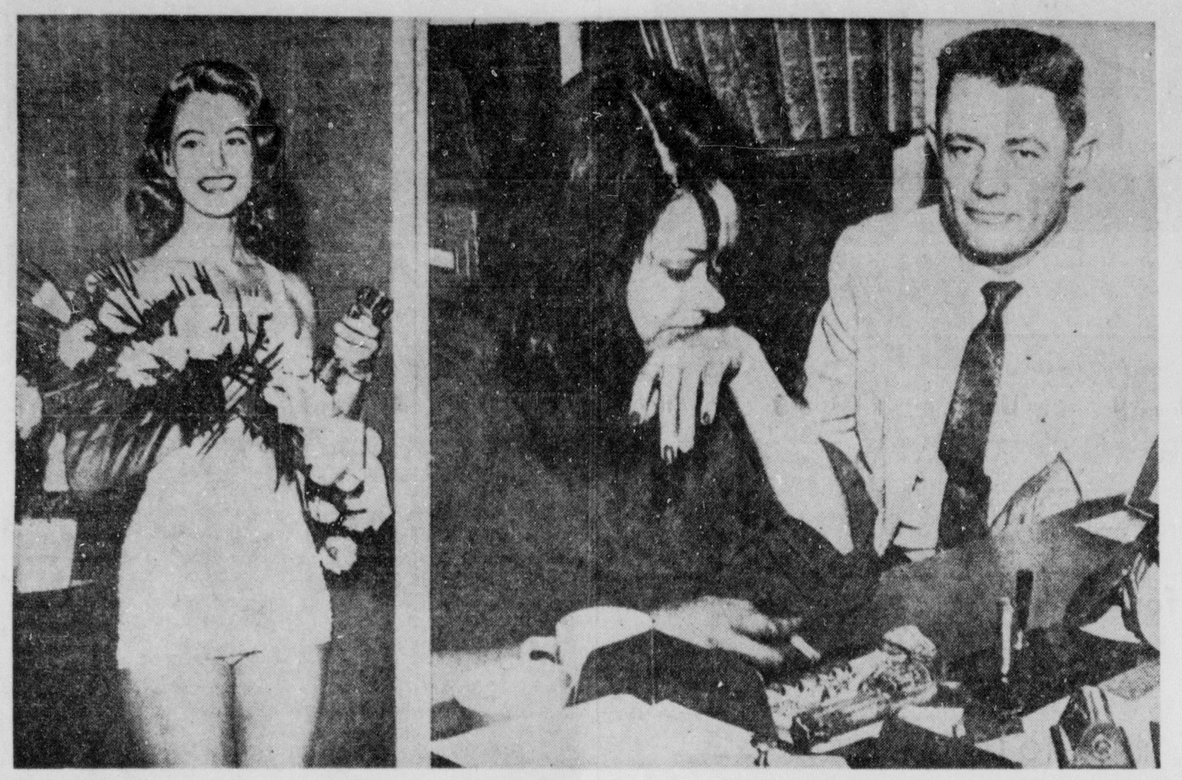

O'Bid served as an enlisted man in the Marine Corps in World War II. He is a member of the Loyal Order of Moose in San Francisco.

He and his wife, Louise, have two children at home.

Governor Asks North To Back Water Program

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown made a point-blank appeal today to Northern California senators to support his compromise water program.

In a special press release aimed at voters and the senators of 12 counties north of the Tehachapi Mountains, the governor pointed out how much money would be spent in their home districts if the Legislature approves his water plan.

Brown's statement was a direct reply to claims of a group of northern senators that too much of his proposed $1,750,000,000 bond issue would be spent to benefit Southern California with not enough going to the north.

GOVERNOR'S REPLY

The governor's reply, using figures supplied by Ralph Brody, special counsel to the governor on water problems, was that the bond issue would result in these amounts being spent in 12 counties:

Butte, 388 million dollars; Sacramento, 22 million; Contra Costa, 45 million; Alameda, 38 million; San Joaquin, 45 million; Santa Clara, 20 million; Stanislaus, 47 million; Merced, 192 million; Fresno, 53 million; Kings, 20 million; San Luis Obispo, 43 million and Kern, 181 million.

In addition, the governor said the eight-county Southern California area would benefit by the expenditure of 528 million dollars from the proposed water bond issue.

LOCAL PROJECTS

Brown, fighting determined northern opposition in the Senate to his proposed compromise, stressed again that 130 million dollars of the bond issue would be spent to develop local water projects.

"Most of that money is expected to be spent in northern mountain counties," Brody said, "and will be in addition to money to be spent in counties already listed."

The governor and Brody added that "many millions" more would be spent if the state went ahead with a water program by the federal government and by local areas on construction of reclamation and flood control projects.

BENEFITTED COUNTIES

In another effort to dig up the 21 votes necessary in the Senate to ratify his water program, Brown ticked off a list of counties which would benefit from the aqueduct system contemplated in the Feather River Project.

They include the counties of Solano, Napa, Sonoma, Marin, Alameda, Contra Costa, Santa Clara, San Benito, Santa Cruz, Fresno, Tulare, Kings, Kern, Los Angeles, Ventura, San Bernardino, Riverside, Orange, San Diego, San Luis Obispo, Monterey and Santa Barbara.

Airman Improves

Airman Dean F. Scalley, 24, Hamilton Air Force Base, who suffered severe head injuries in a San Rafael auto accident May 4, is slightly improved but continues on the crtical list at Letterman Army Hospital in San Francisco, hospital attendants reported today.

'I WAS FLAT BROKE'

Beauty Queen Confesses Two Armed Robberies

LITTLETON, Colo. (AP) — A 20-year-old girl was in a jail cell today, only 10 months after she was crowned a state beauty queen.

Dixie Ann Gottfried has signed statements admitting two armed robberies, according to Sheriff's Investigator William Maraggos. No charges have been filed.

"All I wanted was $50 for a room and some new clothes and a few dollars to get a new start," said the 5-foot-11, 150-pound beauty. "I was flat broke."

Mrs. Gottfried won the Miss Colorado Jaycee title last July, as blonde Dixie Ann Dickes of Pueblo, Colo.

When two patrolmen arrested her late Monday night at nearby Aurora, her hair was long, unkempt and dyed black. She was dressed in slacks and a rough shirt.

Records at her home town of Pueblo show she was fined $125 last November for fighting and pouring beer on two policemen who attempted to arrest her in a tavern.

Mrs. Gottfried was arrested less than 15 minutes after an Aurora drugstore was robbed at gunpoint of $131 and narcotics.

She admitted she had robbed a Denver hotel early Monday of $17.

The lithe beauty said her husband, William D. Gottfried, 23, is in the Illinois Prison for the Criminally Insane. He was convicted of kidnaping a policeman, Maraggos said.

"He'd just raise cain if he knew about this," she said.

Burning Ban Opens Monday In 3 Areas

Three Southern Marin fire districts today announced a ban on outdoor burning without permit which will become effective Monday.

The ban will coincide with that in areas controlled by the county fire department, where Chief Charles Kelley has announced start of the summer "fire season" for Monday.

Chief Jack Ishmael of Tiburon Fire District, Chief Carol O. Heynen Jr. of Alto-Richardson Bay Fire District and Chief Chester Kirby of Homestead Fire District all announced the ban will become effective on the same day in their districts.

Permits will be required for use of outdoor barbecues as well as for burning in incinerators and open trash piles.

Measure To Open Bars During Elections Rejected

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The Assembly Government Organization Committee has decided that bars and liquor stores should remain closed during county and municipal elections.

The committee rejected a bill yesterday which would have permitted the sale of liquor during local elections although keeping state and national balloting dry.

Assemblyman Seth Johnson (R-Los Angeles), author of the prohibition repealer, said it seemed "rather odd" that bars were required to close during city elections when a citizen could buy a drink by crossing the city limits which often meant "just crossing the street."

However, Assemblyman Thomas McBride (D-Sacramento) argued that bars should close so elections could be conducted in a "sober atmosphere."

That remark prompted Assemblyman Lester McMillan (D-Los Angeles) to ask MacBride why bars around the capitol were not closed during sessions of the Legislature.

Juvenile Hall Pair Still At Liberty

A 14-year-old redhead and a 15-year-old brunette, who leaped out of a car in downtown San Rafael Friday noon to escape going back to Marin Juvenile Hall, are still at large, Probation Officer Walter Busher reported today.

The red-haired girl has a bandage on her right arm She is about 5 feet 3 inches tall and weighs 115 pounds. She wore a green print dress.

The other girl has black hair and wore a dark dress. She is 5 feet 6 inches and 130 pounds.

They were being taken to juvenile hall by Miss June V. Nelson, a girls' supervisor, when the girls jumped out at Fourth street and Lincoln avenue.

RUSS COUPLE REPORTED WED 110 YEARS

MOSCOW (UPI)—A Russian couple in a mountain village near the Caspian Sea port of Makhachikala celebrated their 110th wedding anniversary Sunday, Moscow Radio has reported.

The broadcast said the 131-year-old man and his 136-year-old wife have three children who are over 100 years old. The longevity of the couple is not unusual in the Daghestan area where they live, the radio said, since there are more than 2,000 persons between 100 and 147 years old, with one village alone having 13 residents over 100.

Twin Cities Merger To Be Panel Topic

The proposed merger of the City of Larkspur and the Town of Corte Madera will be aired on radio station KTIM's "Marin Sounding Board" from 9 to 10 a.m. tomorrow.

Panelists will be Dan Allen, Larkspur mayor; Arthur Storhaug, member of the Larkspur Merger Committee; Phil Arone, chairman of the Corte Madera Merger Committee, and William Hansen, Corte Madera councilman.

Moderator Kitty Oppenheimer urged listeners to telephone in questions during the broadcast. It will be heard again from a tape-recording at 12:30 p.m. Sunday.

Marinite Composes

"Invention for Three Instruments," a composition by Anthony Gromme, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl F. Gromme, 1539 Toussin avenue, San Rafael, will be played during a special evening of music May 20 at Pomona College in Claremont, where young Gromme is a senior majoring in mathematics.

Probe Urged Of Foes Of Loyalty Oath

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Sen. John F. Thompson (R-San Jose) today suggested an investigation of state employees who publicly oppose loyalty oaths.

He thinks they should be fired.

"Are you a member of the Communist Party?" Thompson demanded of each of a series of witnesses yesterday before the Senate Business and Professions Committee.

All answered "no," but opposed loyalty test provisions of a bill to license social workers. It would deny licenses to persons who advocate violent or unlawful overthrow of the government.

The only state employee among them was Bernard Schussel, who said he spoke for the 27-member welfare staff at Napa State Hospital.

Schussel said he is not and never has been a Communist but that he feels loyalty oaths can lead to political thought control.

The committee approved the bill, which the Assembly has already passed.

Hotel Fire Blamed On Short Circuit

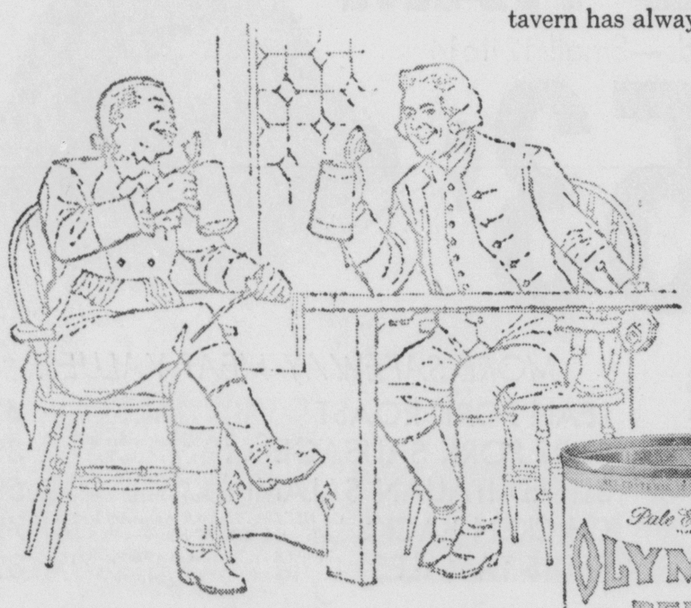

Cause of the May 6 fire at the Travelers Inn in San Rafael, which sent more than 20 guests into the street at breakfast time, was disclosed today by San Rafael Fire Department.

Deputy Fire Chief Vance Trivett said an investigation revealed that the fire was caused by a short circuit in a floor lamp in Room 24.

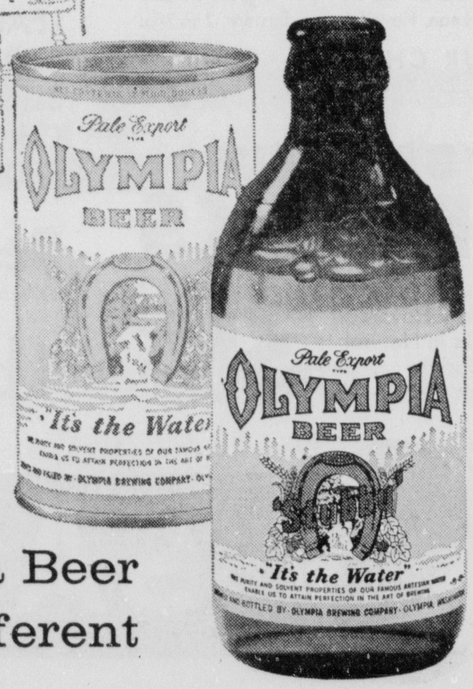

It was believed at first that the fire started in the kitchen and spread to the rooms upstairs. Trivett said investigation of the charred walls revealed the source of the fire. Damage was estimated at about $20,000.

A Refreshing Tradition

Your neighborhood tavern is part of the American tradition. Like the inns of olden times, today's tavern provides a friendly haven for relaxation and refreshment. Some equally refreshing traditions have been established in connection with light Olympia Beer. It has been brewed by three successive generations of the founding family ... under the original policies and quality standards ... with the same source of naturally perfect artesian brewing water ... since 1896. The brewers of Olympia salute the modern tavern proprietor for keeping alive the traditions of hospitality for which the tavern has always been noted.

RIGNEY MAY BENCH ORLANDO

'Soph Jinx' Hits Cepeda, The Giants Are Suffering

Orlando Cepeda apparently is suffering from one of the most dreaded diseases in baseball—the sophomore jinx.

The Puerto Rican, National League rookie of 1958, isn't hitting.

As the San Francisco Giants opened a two-game series with Philadelphia today, Manager Bill Rigney said he would like to rest his once-feared Latin, but there just isn't anyone to take his place.

"I'd get him out of the lineup if I could," Rigney said, "but I don't know who could play first. Cepeda needs a rest or something. He's not hitting."

At this time last season Cepeda was hitting better than .320. He had six homers and 20 runs batted in.

He has six homers and 20 RBI now, but they came earlier in the season and his batting average has slipped to .272.

Orlando, 6-feet-1 and 200 pounds, has had only four hits in this last six games and the Giants lost four of those games.

Pittsburgh beat the Giants 3-5 yesterday in a hectic 12-inning game and Cepeda got one single in five trips. He flied out in the eighth with Willie Mays on base and hit into a double play in the 10th.

In the 12th, he was safe on an error, one of three that inning that almost cost the Pirates the game.

Last year the 21-year-old surprise find was the holler guy on the club, but now Rigney says Cepeda is brooding, worrying about what's wrong.

Rigney is even giving thought to trying Danny O'Connell, a reserve second baseman, at first although the light hitting Irishman has never played the position.

In the 12th, Pittsburgh scored three runs on four hits and two walks given up by pitchers Gordon Jones, Dom Zanni and Joe Shipley. Six pitchers in all were used with Jones the eventual loser.

The Giants came back and almost tied it. Robert Clemente in right field made two errors and third baseman Don Hoak one and before you knew it, it was 6-5 with Cepeda on second and one out. But winner Bennie Daniels, who started Monday night and came on in relief in the 10th, got Jackie Brandt to foul out and Daryl Spencer to pop up.

Ex-Giant Reuben Gomez (0-1) was scheduled to pitch for Philadelphia today against Sam Jones (2-4).

Bomber Vs. Boxer In Video Fight Tonight

CHICAGO (UPI)—A bomber and a boxer meet on television tonight and the fancy Ralph Dupas, ranked second among the world welterweights by the National Boxing Assn. was an 8 to 5 favorite to defeat hard-punching Charley Scott.

Dupas, who has scored only 13 knockouts in 92 pro fights, will be attempting to end a four-fight winning streak for Scott, a 23-year-old Philadelphia scrapper. Scott has been boxing as a professional for six years and has scored 12 knockouts in 22 wins.

It will be a major test for Scott, unranked by NBA currently, since a win probably would lift him into the top 10 and certainly would drop Dupas from his lofty position.

Experience will be on the side of Dupas, who has scored 75 victories. Scott has had only 31 pro fights, and twice he was in virtual retirement. In 1955 he had only one bout and in 1957 did not enter the ring.

His comeback began last year when he was taken over by Normal Henry and Joe Gramby, who advised him to quit worrying about his style.

"Two starts later he was awesome," Gramby said, "against Tom Brown, and in the next he upset Isaac Logart. Then he came back in a rematch against Logart and flattened him in three rounds."

Redwood Upsets Tam, 10-3 For 3rd Straight Triumph

Two Home Runs Lead Way; S. R. Defeats Montgomery

Redwood High School's Giants chalked up consecutive upset victory number three yesterday with a 10-3 rout of the slumping Tamalpais Indians in one of four North Bay League baseball games.

It wasn't the only upset on the menu, however, as Santa Rosa handed champion Vallejo its first loss of the year, 7-1 and San Rafael rallied to a 7-5 victory over Montgomery. Napa had to struggle for a 2-0 triumph over the Drake Pirates.

Coach Al Endriss' Giants who dropped their first eight games before embarking on their current upset binge, clubbed three Tam pitchers for nine hits, including a two-run homer by Bob Ostaggi and a solo four-bagger by Hugh Holzapfel. Holzapfel also singled home a run and Bob Anderson doubled home two markers for the Giants.

Contributing doubles to Redwood's attack were Guy Hannah and pitcher Butch Brear.

Butch went the distance on the mound, giving up seven hits, including a triple by Charley Fisher and a double by Ron Cole.

Peter Magrini gave up three hits and struck out 11 batters in Santa Rosa's win over Vallejo, the Apaches' first loss in 11 NBL games . Coach Bob Patterson, whose Apaches already have clinched their fifth pennant in the last six years, used reserves throughout his lineup.

San Rafael's victory was sewed up in the fifth frame when, trailing 4-5, Bulldog pinch-hitter Russ Bottini slapped a three-run homer. Al Lamperti with a single and Mike Curry with a walk were on base at the time.

Sophomore Mike Osborne went the distance for San Rafael, giving up six hits.

Napa, which was one of Redwood's upset victims, almost got the same treatment from Drake, but the Indians pushed across two runs in the sixth inning to turn back the spunky Pirates. John Rawlins hit a home run after Phil Brooks walked to provide the winning margin.

It was only the second hit given up by sophomore right-hander Nino Geminiani who battled Tom Jeffords in a great pitching duel. Nino struck out 12 Indians and walked four and showed signs of future greatness at Drake.

Streaking Dodgers Regain First Place

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

A four-game winning streak isn't much, but in the National League it means first place.

The Los Angeles Dodgers won their fourth in a row last night, beating Philadelphia 3-1 behind the five-hit pitching of young Danny McDevitt. That gave the Dodgers a half-game lead over Milwaukee although the two clubs are tied percentwise (.600). The Braves lost 7-3 to the Chicago Cubs.

St. Louis kept Cincinnati from making it a virtual three-way tie by beating the Reds 7-4. Pittsburgh defeated San Francisco 6-5 in 12 innings.

In the Amecican League, first place Cleveland beat New York 7-6, the Chicago White Sox won 4-3 in 12 innings at Boston and Washington defeated Detroit 7-4 as Harmon Killebrew drove in five runs with his 11th and 12th homers, tops in the A. L. The Kansas City at Baltimore game was rained out.

No one has been able to put together more than a four-game string in the National League scramble. Fact is, only the Braves and Dodgers have won that many in a row. The Braves won their their first four and took first place early in April. The Dodgers won four straight and came within .133 percentage points of first place three weeks ago.

It's repeat of last year's pennant scrap in the N. L., when the longest winning streak was seven games. The Dodgers, who finished seventh, never won more than four straight last year.

The Dodgers now have won seven of their last 10, and McDevitt has two of the three complete games the pitching staff has produced in that span. The 26-year-old lefty (2-1) had a two-hit shutout until the eighth inning when Willie Jones hit his seventh home run. McDevitt walked none, fanned six.

McDevitt singled home the Dodgers' first run in the fifth after loser Gene Conley (1-1) had purposely passed Don Zimmer. The Dodgers scored twice in that frame, getting the other on an error. Duke Snider singled home the final run in the eighth off reliever Jack Meyer.

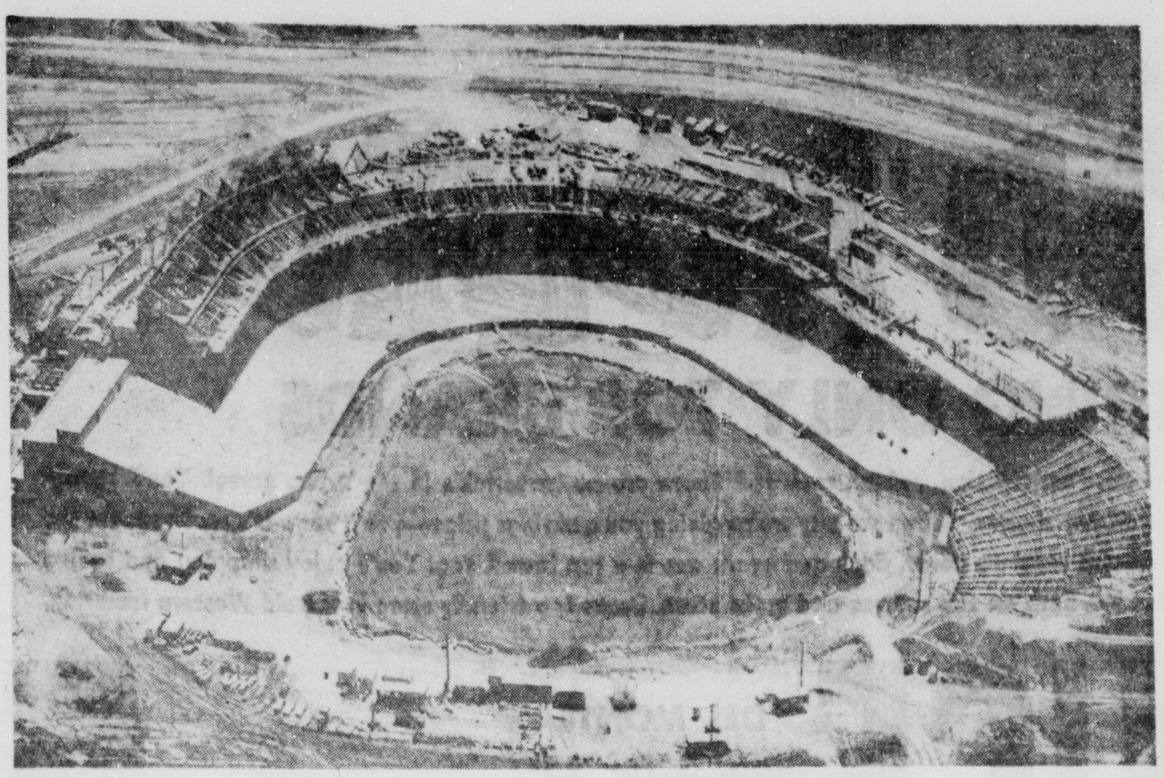

The Cubs handed five-game winner Lew Burdette his second loss in a row, scoring five in the ninth at Chicago on a home run by Walt Moryn and pinch-hitter Earl Averill's first grand slam Tony Taylor also homered off Burdette. Don Elston (1-1) won it with one inning of scoreless relief. Starter Bob Anderson was tagged for homers by Del Crandall, Johnny Logan and Ed Mathews, who leads the majors with 13.

A DIAMOND IN THE ROUGH

The San Francisco Giants, as they did last year, are playing their home baseball games at Seals Stadium. But from the looks of things, they'll soon be meeting the opposition in their new stadium at Candlestick Point. Center portion in this aerial view shows actual diamond taking shape. Lower stands appear near completion as upper deck takes shape. (AP Wirephoto)

Weather May Cause Change In Schedule

By JACK HANLEY
I-J Correspondent

Richie Ashburn, Robin Roberts and the rest of the Phillies came into Seals Stadium this afternoon for their first game of the 1959 season with the Giants.

Rain and cold weather cancelled both games the teams had scheduled for Connie Mack Stadium when the Giants visited Philadelphia two weeks ago in their initial 1959 eastern swing.

Cancellation of those games and another at Pittsburgh a few days later revived talk favoring the playing of all early season April games on the West Coast and opening the season in the east in May.

National League brass is aware of such talk, but whether the brass hats do anything about it remains to be seen. Scheduling for the 1960 season should have the Giants opening at home in their new Candlestick Stadium if for no other reason than that the Giants opened the 1959 campaign in dear old St. Louis this year.

However, there is a much more practical point to be considered. That is the gate. The weather was extremely nippy for the opening series at St. Louis with the result the three Busch Stadium games drew only 41,683. Half of that crowd, 20,988, was at the Friday night opener April 10. Saturday night 8,518 turned out for the second game and Sunday afternoon was equally disappointing with 12,177.

THE GIANTS then came home for a six-game stand against the Cubs and Cardinals and 111,180 fans jammed Seals Stadium. Back on the road went the Giants, their first stop being Los Angeles where 101,405 Dodger fans saw the three-game series of the National League's West Coast teams.

What happened to the crowds in Chicago when the Giants flew into the windy city from Los Angeles? Why, naturally, like sensible citizens they stayed home and kept warm either listening to the Giant-Cub games on radio or watching TV. Yes, Chicago games are locally televised.

ALL GAMES at Wrigley Field, incidentally, are day affairs. There are no light towers in the home of the Cubs. The gum man, Philip K. Wrigley Jr., could well afford them but he believes baseball should be played in natural light as Abner Doubleday also envisioned it.

It was a Friday, April 24, when the Giants and Cubs met in their first 1959 N. L. game. A stupendous crowd of 3,511 was on hand. Concessionaires usually count on selling at least 3,511 hot dogs during pregame batting practice. An awful lot of Chicago hot dogs remained uncooked that day.

The second game in Chicago drew 13,873 and the third—a Sunday afternoon, mind you—lured 8,427 into Wrigley Field for a three-game series total of 25,811.

Skip the next stop, Philadelphia, which was like a lost weekend. The rain and cold there spelled zero attendance. Pittsburgh fans can't be faulted, 19,799 attending the first Giant-Pirate game. Even with rain falling the second night, more than 12,000 fans showed up at Forbes Field. They hung around and hung around from the 8 p.m. scheduled starting time until 9:40 p.m. when the game finally was called.

The three-game attendance in Milwaukee: 16,900, 20,127 and 22,911 for a 59,938 total in a city where anything less than 30,000 for a Giant-Brave game is disappointing. At Cincinnati, last stop before the Giants came home again, the first game drew 5,932, the second 13,822—total 19,754.

THOSE FIGURES for the 12 road games, excluding the three in Los Angeles, should total 166,985 which obviously does not match Seals Stadium attendance of 193,322 for the first 10 games played there—111,180 for the Cubs and Cards, 82,242 for the four-game series with the Dodgers.

Now, the Quod Erat Demonstrandum of all this should be: Schedule next year's early games on the West Coast.

Richie Ashburn and Robin Roberts alone will draw more into Seals Stadium than some of those eastern or midwest crowds, certainly more than the miserable 3,511 in Chicago.

Whale Of A Tale Helped To Enliven The Great Sea Lion Controversy

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—Just when the fish and game scene looks quiet and orderly in Sacramento, something usually comes up to cause a lot of hair-pulling, pleading and loud charges.

With major deer management legislation either approved or discarded, nothing doing on trout, it looked like quiet times.

But there was a whale of a tale.

It all started with a resolution of Sen. Waverly Jack Slattery (D-Finley) which asked the Department of Fish and Game to reduce the sea lion popjulation off the north coast of California from an estimated 20,000 to about 5,000. Commercial fishermen claimed they were bringing net loads of fish heads, the carcasses having been devoured by the avaricious sea lions.

On the other side were some sportsmen's groups, do-gooders in general, people who liked to see sea lions swimming around the ocean and sitting on rocks and others who feared killing of the seals might find the beaches dotted with sea lion carcasses.

Whoever was right or wrong, the Slattery resolution came to an end in the Assembly Fish and Game Committee.

One senator blamed the increasing population of the sea lions on the commercial taking of killer whales. He claimed whaling operations — one in California and one in British Columbia — were catching whales, including killer whales, for the production of pet food.

The Department of Fish and Game said it wasn't so, even though it did sound like an intriguing story. The killer whales eat sea lions all right, the department said. However, the killer whale is too swift, small and dangerous to be practical for the whalers. Why should they try to catch a killer whale when the bigger ones are to be had?

The Pie That Won The Championship

CHICAGO—Karen Ann Gunning of Mulberry, Indiana, won the National Cherry Pie Championship over all other state champions at the 27th Annual National Cherry Pie Baking Contest.

Her champion cherry pie, judged best by an outstanding panel of youth leaders, food editors, and home economists, won for Karen a college scholarship, an electrict range and an educational trip to New York and Washington.

In what is the largest amateur contest in the nation, involving more than 195,000 boys and girls, at local and state levels, 16-year-old Karen, Dayton High junior, plans to major in home economics at Purdue.

With a seven-year activity background in 4-H Club, holding a vice presidency of a girl's 4-H Club, Karen also holds the unique distinction of being recreation leader for the 4-H boy's band and glee club.

Mrs. Fred Reichart, home economist and 4-H leader of Lafayette, Ind., was Karen's chaperone.

CHERRY PIE

2 (20 oz.) cans frozen cherries, thawed and drained*
(4 cups drained cherries)
1 cup sugar
3 tablespoons tapioca
¼ teaspoon red coloring
¼ teaspoon almond extract
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon melted butter
2 tablespoons cream

Combine all ingredients and pour into a 9-inch pastry-lined pie pan, distributing the cherries evenly. Wet the edge of the bottom crust, arrange the top crust or lattice strips in place and press. Trim off the overhanging edges of dough. Flute the edge with fingers. To give the pie a golden brown glaze, brush the top of pastry with cream. To prevent the edge of the crust from overbrowning, place a strip of aluminum foil around the edge of the dish. Bake in a preheated over at 400 degrees F. for 55 minutes.

*If water-packed canned cherries are used, increase sugar to 1½ cups.

CRUST

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt
⅔ cup lard
¼ cup milk

Sift the flour and salt together. To this add about half of the lard and cut until the texture of cornmeal. Add the remaining lard and blend to the size of small or medium peas. Add the milk a few drops at a time and mix. Continue this procedure until all the particles are damp enough to stick together. Press together, divide and shape into two balls.

Flour pastry cloth and rolling pin lightly. Roll the bottom crust 3 inches large than the pie dish. Fit the dough into the dish being sure not to stretch it. Roll remaining dough; make a design in to allow the steam to escape, or cut into strips one-half inch wide for lattice top.

Old Wives' Tale Wins Medic's Nod

SAN FRANCISCO—Evidence that wine may help prevent hardening of the arteries by lowering cholesterol levels has been reported by a leading nutritionist, Dr. Agnes Fay Morgan of Berkeley.

Talking before a meeting of physicians here, Dr. Morgan said University of California experiments indicated that wine in the diet of hamsters and young rats may aid in cutting down deposition of cholesterol induced by a cholesterol-rich diet.

Cholesterol is the fatty substance that collects inside blood vessels and causes them to harden.

Dr. Morgan, professor of nutrition emeritus at the University, was one of four scientists working on the project. She has been testing wine's importance in nutrition since 1938.

In her talk before a quarterly meeting of the Society of Medical Friends of Wine (which sponsors wine research) Dr. Morgan said that appreciably lower levels of cholesterol were found in the blood, livers and adrenals of the hamsters and rats fed with wine than were found in animals that drank an alcohol-water solution. The most cholesterol was deposited in the liver and adrenals of "control" animals given only water.

THE 'PORT' MYTH

The scientist said that experiments at Berkeley also showed that the tradition of prescribing Port wine as a blood-builder may have some factual basis. Sweet red dessert wines, such as Port, were found to be superior to all other wines in retention of anti-anemia vitamins.

Fermentation apparently increased the amount of two of these vitamins, in that 71 per cent more riboflavin was found in the wine than in the grape juices from which it was made. Forty-five per cent more folic acid appeared. Riboflavin promotes growth; folic acid is the anemia fighter.

Sweet wines may retain vitamins better than dry wines because they ferment less, Dr. Morgan said. Another factor may be the darker color of the red wines such as Port. Light destroys both riboflavin and folic acid. Both were retained better in red than in white wines.

Sign Of Spring

The simplest of concoctions but one of the most intriguing is Coconut Macaroon Pie. Except for the crust, you can count the ingredients on one hand.

Strawberry Pie Sign Of Spring

Springtime and strawberry-time go together. Here's a party-perfect strawberry pie to celebrate both occasions. Clean 1 quart strawberries and cut in halves. Stir together 2 3-ounce packages cream cheese, softened, and 4 medium strawberries until fluffy.

Spread evenly over bottom and sides of a 9-inch baked pastry shell. Mix ¾ cup sugar, ⅓ cup cornstarch and ¼ teaspoon salt in saucepan. Gradually add ¼ cup water.

Cook 2 minutes stirring constantly. Add 2 cups of the strawberries. Cook until clear and thickened, stirring constantly, about 5 minutes. Cool. Fold in remaining strawberries. Cover cheese with strawberry filling. Whip ½ cup whipping cream until stiff peaks are formed. Fold in 1 teaspoon sugar and ¼ teaspoon vanilla extract. Garnish pie with sweetened whipped cream. Makes 1 9-inch pie.

Summer Salad

Flavor Hint

File this away as a flavor-combination trick borrowed from the Spanish: orange juice, a pinch of cinnamon and Spanish sherry are wonderful go-togethers. Use the combination in stews (with chicken or veal), in sauces, in punches or in tall iced drinks.

How To Braise

MARKET DAY SPECIAL

Who Gets To Lick Dasher For All Those Freezersful?

By NIKKI LAMOTT

Busy housewives will take the day off next Wednesday, to do their weekend food-buying in an unusual way—at gaily decorated Market Day booths on the grounds of the Marin Art and Garden Center, whose member organization, the Northgate Group, sponsors this annual fund-raising event.

The food accent at "Market Day" will be on home-made and home-grown products, including such favorite standbys as breads and cakes, delicious candy, and fresh, luscious garden vegetables and fruits.

(Equally interesting, but with no caloric value, will be other picturesque booths stocking plants and flowers, gifts, hats, books, records and sheet music, and those perennial favorites, the "white elephants.")

The recipe used to tempt "Market Day" visitors comes from the collection of New Zealand-born Mrs. Calvin Paige of Larkspur, this year's Ice Cream Booth chairman, who found it in a cook-book given to her by her American mother-in-law. Even the cook-book has a pleasant historical ring about it, for it was published in 1903 by the Women's Guild of St. Mark's Church, Seattle, Wash.

The secret of making good ice cream lies in using REAL cream and lots of elbow grease. Only equipment necessary is a home ice cream freezer, of either the hand powered or electric motor variety.

Mrs. Paige and her assistant, Mrs. Allen Zeiss of Ross, use a hand freezer to turn out the approximately 18 gallons they will make for "Market Day."

"We tried using freezers with electric motors last year to see if it would speed up the job," Mrs. Paige says with a laugh, "but the mixture was so heavy it burned out the motors. We are back to our own hand power this time."

The principle of ice cream making is the same for all freezers. A frozen mixture is placed in a metal can, which is surrounded by an ice and salt mixture in a wooden tub, and then churned. The action of the rotating dasher in the churn makes the finished product smooth and stops the formation of bits of ice and solid particles.

PHILADELPHIA ICE CREAM

1 Quart Cream
1 Cup Sugar
Generous pint of sweetened crushed strawberries (or any other fruit)
1 teaspoon lemon juice

To a quart of cream—scalded not boiled—add a cup of sugar, and stir until the sugar is dissolved. Cool. Add a generous pint of sweetened crushed strawberries or other fruit and the lemon juice. Churn in freezer until solid, usually 25-30 minutes.

A slightly richer version of Philadelphia ice cream is NEAPOLITAN. Four eggs are separated and beaten, and the sugar is added to the egg yolks, then to the cream, and cooked to a very soft custard. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites, cool, add the fruit, and freeze.

Other variations using the basic recipe without the fresh fruit include:

Vanilla: 2 tablespoons vanilla are added to the cream and sugar.

Bisque: About 1 cup fine, dried sweet crumbs, preferably macaroons, lady fingers, or fancy wafers are used in the mixture. Flavor cream with almond or vanilla to taste. After adding the crumbs, a slight flavoring of sherry can be added.

ANOTHER VARIATION

Coconut (At Last) Comes In Powder Fine As Snow

Now, for the first first time all of the subtle flavor of coconut, number one fruit of the tropics, is captured in snowy powdered form, for toppings on desserts, mixing in exotic drinks, bases for pies and cakes, use in polynesian recipes and flavoring in soft drinks for youngsters.

Over 10 years of experimentation by food blending expert Joseph Ulick and his staff at Londonderry Farms in Southern California has resulted in this epicurean delight, a powdered, readily soluble combination of pure Philippine coconut finely ground, to which are added milk and egg solids, cane sugar and natural plant extractives and flavoring.

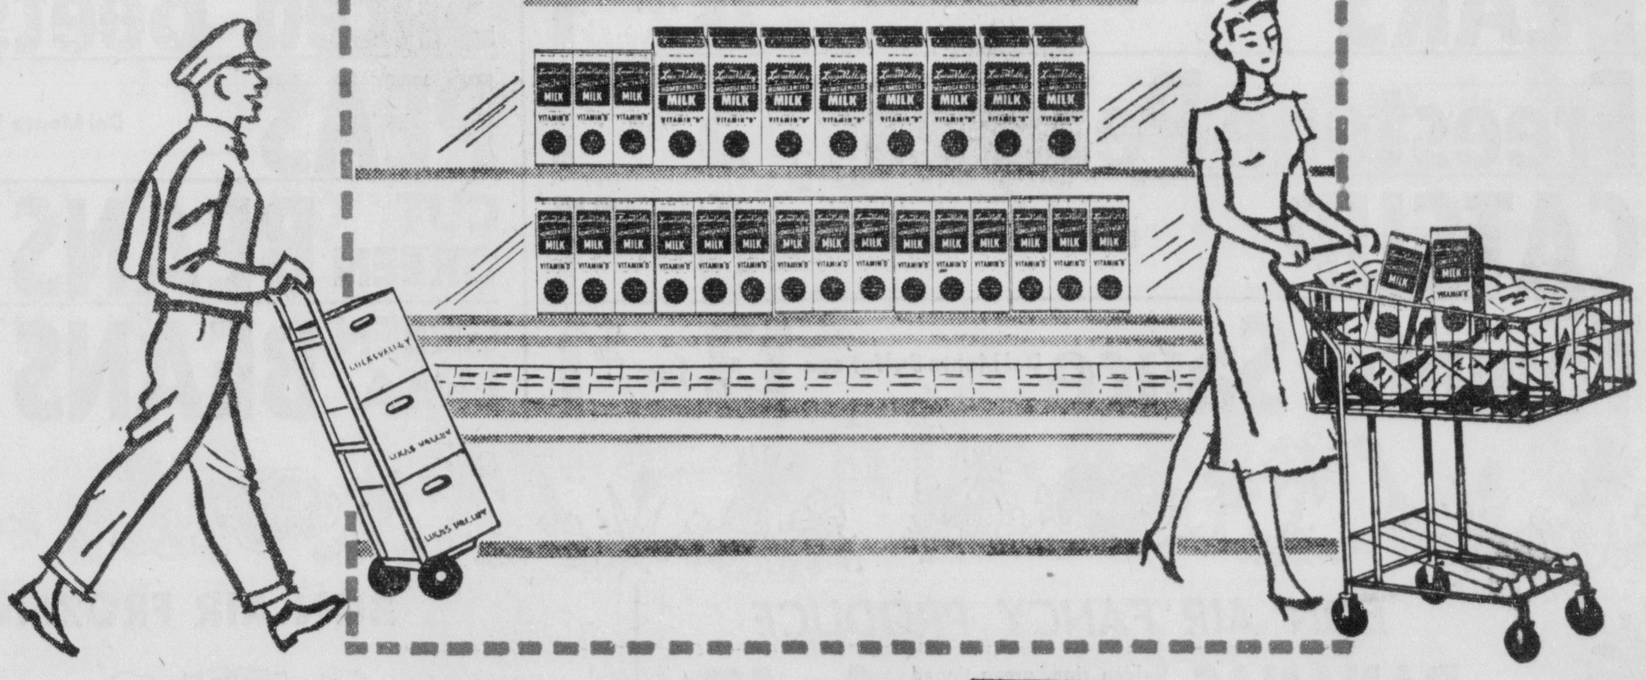

The refreshing tropical drink christened "Snowcap" by Londonderry Farms, has been hailed by connoisseurs as deliciously different and is simply made. One heaping tablespoon of coconut snow, 1 jigger of light bodied rum, one cup crushed ice, blended or vigorously mixed, and poured into a champagne glass or goblet.

Additional recipes, showing the wide variety of uses are given in the little booklet in each can, in addition to "cook's tips." The gamut runs from Pink Cloud and Black Magic cocktails to Chicken Hawaiian and, for the youngsters, Tropical Fruit Juice Flip and Tropical Milk Today. Included are Coconut Date Custard, Coconut Criffon Pie, Seafood Curry, Polynesian Fish Filets, Chicken Luau, Tropicana Salad, Coconut Snow Egg Nog, Ambrosia Pie and Coco-Choc Wafers.

Anoint Savory Pot Roast With Sauce Of Sour Cream

Dress up your next pot roast with sour cream and you'll have a veritable queen of pot roasts that will easily become a conversation piece of friends and family.

- 3½ to 4 pound pot roast
- 2 medium onions
- 1 clove garlic
- 3 tablespoons shortening
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 1 cup commercial sour cream
- 1 cup water
- 4 to 5 ounce package noodles

Slice onions and mince garlic. Melt shortening in Dutch oven or other heavy utensil. Add onions and garlic and cook until light brown. Remove to plate. Rub meat with salt and brown well in Dutch oven. Combine sour cream with water and pour over meat. Top with onions and garlic. Cover and cook over low heat or in a moderate, 325 degree, oven for 2½ hours or until tender. When roast is almost done, cook noodles according to package instructions. Remove roast from pan and make gravy from drippings, adding to it the sour cream and onion mixture spooned from top of roast. Season to taste with salt, pepper and paprika. Serve noodles and meat topped with gravy. Makes 6 good sized servings.

Squash Caviar Is A Tempting Dip

For a tempting dip, cook summer squash in Spanish olive oil with onion and herbs. Wonderful with potato chips or corn chips. Cut two or three small summer squash in cubes, place in saucepan with 3 tablespoons Spanish olive oil, 1 small sliced onion, 1 garlic clove, crushed, and 1 small tomato, peeled and chopped. Season with ½ teaspoon salt (or to taste), ¼ teaspoon marjoram or oregano and a pinch of basil. Cook tightly covered, without water, until squash is tender, about 6 minutes. Force through food mill or mash in electric blender until thickened and smooth. Add about a teaspoon of vinegar. Serve chilled.

Next time you whip mashed sweet potatoes with butter, cream and salt, add a dash of ground allspice. Or substitute orange juice for the cream and add grated orange rind and a dash of ground nutmeg.

ON MAY 23

Strawberry Point Festival Fun Affair

At 1 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, May 23, the Strawberry Point School will look more like a circus ground than a modern public school for at that time the seventh annual Strawberry Point Festival will begin. A community project, this annual event, sponsored by the Parent Teachers Assn. of the school brings together many Strawberry residents, children, parents, neighbors, friends and many former residents. All contribute to make this a fun affair as well as a fund raising activity. Past achievements of this festival have resulted in the setting up of an excellent school library, purchasing of strip film equipment, record players and funds for special class projects.

Under the co-chairmanship of Mesdames Charles P. Drolla, Peter L. Humphrey and Earl T. Koski, scores of workers have been engaged for months collecting, sewing, baking, planting and planning innumerable activities and entertainment for the day.

A flag ceremony will open the event with representatives from all the youth groups in the community participating, including Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Campfire Girls, Cubs, Brownies, Bluebirds and Little Leaguers.

Among the many games planned by Mesdames Edward H. Dill, Carl K. Sparks and Kal Lines are a baseball pitch and goldfish bowl. Since no circus is complete without candy, popcorn, ice cream, lemonade and snocones, these will all be found at the festival, along with colorful balloons. Along the Gayway will be make-up, photo, record and plant booths.

A new feature will be a Silent Auction, where the bargain hunter will have a chance to quietly bid on all sorts of exciting "antiques."

One of the main attractions of the day will be the magic feats of Zoran, the magician. Returning by popular demand will be a production by the Strawberry puppeteers, Pat Muszynski, John Hammond and Marjorie Alquist. This year they will present the "Frog Prince." Also planned are a fun show by Mrs. I. A. Willat and cartoon movies to be shown by Jack Neiger.

For the first time this year a hobby show will be held. Directed by Dr. and Mrs. Tom Groody, the show will feature hobbies of the adults in the community, including Batik work by Mrs. Ebba Evers, mosaic rock work by Doctors Ellen and John Binckley, a miniature railroad layout built by George Lopes, photographic work by Dr. William L. Clark and displays of doll furniture and leather handbags, ceramics, china and quilting. All represent hours of creative work by local residents of the area.

In addition to games, exhibits and food, entertainment has been planned to appeal to every age group. A new attraction this year is the Buyin' Cage, under the chairmanship of Mrs. John Binckley. Items will range from party centerpieces of castles and merry-go-rounds to jewelry made from mosaic tile. Also on sale will be stuffed animals, beanbags, marblebags and handpuppets. Doll clothes will be sold in a booth under the direction of Mrs. James N. Warnock.

Mrs. Raymond Levine is in charge of a Cake Walk and Mrs. Koski is providing a hayride and goat ride for those wishing to rest their feet.

A king and queen will be chosen from among the school's sixth graders. The two will be selected because of the originality and imagination of essays they write on "Why I would like to be King or Queen of the Festival," and they will represent the graduating class of June 1959 which is the first group to have completed all grades in Strawberry Point School from kindergarten on since the school opened in 1952.

Dinner will be served and hamburgers, salads, desserts, coffee and cold drinks will be served throughout the day.

FUN WITH FOOD AND HELPFUL HINTS

Chinese cookery, it's said, was a secret art for many centuries. Perhaps that's why JAN-U-WINE Oriental foods have such appeal, for there's a magical freshness in the wonderful vegetables, and the chow mein, chop suey and other foods you find canned and ready to use. JAN-U-WINE Soy Sauce gives a wonderfully good taste to appetizers, sauces, meats.

Sweet new corn is plentiful this year; here's a wonderful way to cook it. Husk and wash corn; do not dry. Place each ear on a 7-inch wide strip of KAISER Quilted Broiler Foil, twice as long as the cob. Add butter, salt and pepper. Wrap snugly in the foil. Place over hot coals or in 450° oven and roast for 15 minutes, turning frequently. Serve the hot ears in the foil.

The crisp touch is just as important in food as it is in clothes. And how much more tempting soup or salad becomes when you serve it with those world-famous crackers — RITZ — wonderfully flaky, buttery-good. NABISCO adds extra shortening for that rich flavor, and packs them so they stay crisp. Buy the RITZ Stack Pack, the handy half-pound size or the one-pound regular pack.

Precious to mother, precious to the first-grader —that magical hour after school, with all the day's events to discuss. For conviviality, why not have a BOSCO session? A teaspoonful of BOSCO syrup in milk makes a delicious chocolate drink, rich in vitamins and iron, good for small scholars. Or—have a sundae-for-two. Pour BOSCO syrup over ice cream and serve!

Never be afraid to invite the folks into the kitchen for a late supper! Dice GEBHARDT'S Tamales and scramble them, delicious chili gravy and all, with the eggs. Then add chopped onion and cook gently, until the eggs are set; a suave and saucy dish. Be sure to use GEBHARDT'S Tamales, for their flavor. Also, they won't crumble or fall apart, even when diced.

Some day he may take a rocket-ship to Venus, but right now, meat is more important to that bright-eyed young man of yours. The lean, high-protein meats in SWIFT'S High Meat Dinners for babies, are blended with flavorful vegetables and cereals. And he has a wide choice of flavor—beef, chicken, ham, veal and lamb are included—food for happy eating and happy, healthful growing.

Towser loves to snooze in the sun. But just whisper "HOLSUM" and see how fast he wakes up. HOLSUM is a ready-to-eat meal; fresh meat, fresh fish and fresh, ground bone, all high protein foods, are carefully cooked with fresh vegetables and cereals, then vitamins are added. It's a tempting, satisfying dinner with all the essentials needed to keep Towser alert.

BEADS O' BLEACH is useful in so many ways that it travels all over my house—from kitchen to bath to laundry. A dry bleach which is as easy to use as soap powder, you can measure and pour BEADS O' BLEACH right into the washer or cleaning pail, to brighten tile, linoleum, cottons and linens, safely. Gentle BEADS O' BLEACH can be used even on nylon.

That's all for now! See you next week! Bonnie Hubbard

UNIT PLANS BARN DANCE ON SATURDAY

Six years ago, the members of the Millwood Unit of the Friends of Arequipa had such a happy time at a barn dance, that they never changed their formula for a fund raising affair.

On Saturday, the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley will once again be converted into a barn. Gay cut-outs of horses and farm animals will adorn the walls. Women in gingham skirts and gentlemen in jeans will lend to the informal atmosphere.

Cocktails will be served at 7 o'clock followed by a barbecued chicken dinner. Music for dancing will then be introduced.

Recreation Chief Named in Fairfax

Michael Davlin, 31-year-old father of six, was appointed father of six, has been appointed as Fairfax recreation director to replace James Gallagher.

Gallagher's resignation as of May 31 was accepted with regret by the Fairfax City Council Monday night. He has served two years as paid recreation director, and previously, as a volunteer.

Davlin was selected on recommendation of the Fairfax Park and Recreation Commission. Chairman Ralph E. Ford said 10 applications had been screened and six persons interviewed. He explained to the council that Fred Borracci, Gallagher's assistant, had said he would only take the job as a recreation co-director.

The vote to appoint Davlin was 4-1, with Councilman Rolfe M. Ockenden dissenting. The new recreation director will be paid $180 a month, according to Ford.

Davlin, a three-year resident of Fairfax, lives at 68 Scenic road. He has nine years experience teaching and coaching in Nebraska, Colorado and California. He is now a teacher and coach at Marin Catholic High School.

A testimonial dinner honoring Gallagher will be held at 6:30 p.m. Thursday at Buon Gusto Villa restaurant in Fairfax.

Mill Valley Youth To Get DeMolay Award

RALPH E. BROTT JR.
Due DeMolay award

Ralph E. Brott Jr., of 250 Ethel avenue, Mill Valley is slated to receive the Representative DeMolay award in a ceremony in the Mill Valley Masonic Temple at 8 p.m. Saturday, according to Vernon C. Gustaffson, advisory council chairman of the Mill Valley chapter.

A son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Brott, Brott is a Tamalpais High School graduate and attended College of Marin before entering the Navy, in which he is a seaman apprentice at the Fire Control Electronic Technician School in San Diego.

Fairfax Council Learns How A Street Gets Accepted

The Fairfax City Council, constantly bombarded with requests from constituents to improve streets, got a shock from City Atty Wallace S. Myers Monday night.

The councilmen have painstakingly explained to numerous petitioners that the city has no responsibility to maintain unaccepted streets.

Monday night City Attorney Myers stated that a street is accepted by the city if:

1. The city accepts it by resolution. (City Clerk Alice Leonesio said Fairfax had few outside of new subdivisions that are accepted by resolution).
2. The street is used for five years by the general public.
3. The city grades or patches the street, over and above what is necessary for passage of emergency equipment.

Protested Councilman William L. Hughes: "Three months ago you said we had no obligation for Upper Cascade drive that we've graded several times."

Councilman Albert Fox said ever since 1951, when he came on the council, residents had been told if they put up the money to bring a road to city standards, the city would contribute the labor and after the job was done, accept the street.

At the beginning of Monday night's meeting the Fairfax council awarded a $25,760 contract to Brown-Ely Co. of Corte Madera to add a two-inch plant mix surface to Sir Francis Drake boulevard from the east city limits to Olema road, to Cascade drive from Bolinas road to Meadow way, and to Meernaa avenue from Creek road to Porteous avenue, and to reconstruct Bolinas road from Cascade drive to 350 feet south of Porteous.

Brown-Ely Co. was lowest of five bidders. The highest bid of $29,565 was submitted by A. G. Raisch Co. of Novato. The engineer's estimate had been $31,550.

The council told George F. Ard of 100 Toyon drive that the city had responsibility to construct a culvert he requested to take care of water seeping under the roadway.

The council also declined to do anything about a request from Earl R. Miller to pave a direct road leading to 233 Hillside avenue since he is the only one using the road.

Clubs Study Annexation Law Change

The Marin Federation of Improvement Clubs has decided to launch a study of possible legislative changes to make annexation of uninhabited territory by cities more difficult.

The action was sparked by the decision of the San Rafael City Council last week to annex 1,090 acres of Freitas Ranch lands extending to the Terra Linda ditch.

"The proposed changes we have in mind," Arthur K. Smart, club chairman, said today, "would prevent the use of annexation to circumvent county planning regulations and to prevent disruption of prearranged district planning."

Play To Benefit Fire Department

The June 11 opening night of the Cove Players' production of "A Ghost of a Chance," sponsored by the Tiburon Playhouse Guild, will benefit the resuscitator fund of the Tiburon Volunteer Fire Department, according to chairman Eric Pedley.

The Belvedere volunteer department will also be among the sponsors, according to its president, Stanley Dick.

How Inmates Felt About Futile Escape Attempt

"TWO CONVICTS HOLD PAIR AT KNIFEPOINT," were the words in bold type heading many California newsapers on Tuesday, April 21, and the pair of felons involved were men from this institution, San Quentin. One man from the local Honor Block, and both on outside the walls detail work that means minimum custody men with a good institution record.

The news of the attempted escape circulated in the Big Yard as other men from the outside work crews were sent inside during the emergency. An escape attempt always works a hardship on the many. This one, involving innocent bystanders, especially a woman, upset the general population.

We followed the escapade as closely as possible and the tense feeling of unrest among the men was ever present, The man in the Yard said: "A guy who takes a woman for a hostage hasn't got guts enough to kill her!"

The long hours dragged into late afternoon before the word came in that the two convicts had surrendered and the hostages were safe. We could feel the tension ease. The attempted escapees were the topic of conversation. However, they would have been disappointed to find there was no hero worship involved.

The West Block's television set carried pictures of the event and there were many negative remarks by the inmates. The escapees were two men feeling sorry for their predicament—throwing Honor out by saying, "To hell with the other guys."

Whatever it was that stilled their hand from harming the hostages isn't important, now. The important thing is that Mrs. Louise Gschwend and Douglas Harrison were not hurt and the majority of men in Wallsville are extremely happy the episode ended like it did.

Mr. Harrison's brave return to the knife wielders with each message was a noble gesture by a good citizen. He was thinking of others—not himself.

Mrs. Gschwend endured hours of unrest like the pioneer woman of years gone by. Her charity in forgiving these men and praying for them is a deed of true valor. It makes for a better world and the man behind walls can thank God there are people like this.

At the request of many San Quentin men, the Inmate Council is writing the victims of this blundered escape a letter. The Council represents the whole populace of the prison. The missive will express our true feeling about the unhappy incident.

In closing may we express the general feeling of the many: To Mr. Harrison we say, "Your courage in the face of great danger will be remembered. It was a deed well done."

To Mrs. Gschwend we can only say, "A VERY HAPPY MOTHER'S DAY, and we wish you many days of good fishing in the vicinity of this Walled City, or any other place your heart desires."

Grim Outlook For Our Forests

The forest fire season is several months ahead of us, but already the scientific soothsayers of the Forestry Service are genuinely alarmed by the outlook. The grim specter of many holocausts awaits us in our tinder-dry forests this year.

Without being alarmists, it is safe to say Marin County's homes, many of them built right in the woods, are particularly vulnerable to this hazard. Therefore it behooves us all to be fire-safety minded and pay close heed to the fire safety regulations which the various Marin fire departments will put forward this summer and fall.

The tragic fact that most forest fires are due to human carelessness should make us all extremely cautious. Our forests are an irreplaceable heritage. Let us do what we can to merit such abundance by treasuring them and doing our utmost to preserve them from fire's devastation.

HAL BOYLE'S COLUMN

Remarks A Newspaper Columnist Would Prefer Not To Hear Again

"Be careful of what you say — or ole 'Big Ears' will have it in the newspapers, the next thing you know."

"You mean that's all you do is write just one piece a day? How in the world do you spend your spare time?"

"I've got a young nephew that doesn't know what to do with himself. How can he go about getting a job like yours?"

"Personally, I don't have much time for reading, but my wife says she likes your column very much. What's it about?"

"Personally, I don't find much time for reading — just the really important things. But my husband says he gets a laugh out of your column. What's it about?"

"Where do you get all your ideas — steal 'em?"

"What's life like on a free pass? Do you guys ever pay your way in to see anything?"

"Well, how's the ole press agents' lifesaver today?"

"It's a really cute idea. We are holding a canary singing contest to introduce a new bird food, and if you'll just agree to serve as a judge you will find plenty of really cute material."

"What if it is made up? Do you think a thing has to be true to be interesting?"

"Don't tell me a guy in your position doesn't get a really good Wall Street tip now and them. How about passing one on, ole palsy walsy?"

"DEAR SIR: You cur. Why are you always picking on women in your column? Are you mad at your mother? signed 'Angry Wife'."

"Dear sir: You jerk: Why do you always give wives the best of it in your column? Are you a man or a mouse in your own house? signed 'Old-fashioned Husband'."

"SURE I know it's a tough job and you could use a raise. But look at it this way: There are at least six guys on the copy desk who are tired of writing headlines—and would love to have your problems—and your working hours."

REMEMBER WHEN

10 YEARS AGO

Judge Edward I. Butler of Marin Superior County authorized the sale of "Bleaching Scene" by Dutch master painter Jacob Ruysdael for $10,000 or more. The painting was part of a $300,000 estate left by William Berg, Sausalito importer who died the previous summer. Berg had valued the work at $250.

"Americanism" was the theme of the first meeting held in Mill Valley American Legion Post's new hall. John McSweeney was in charge of the program.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

It would seem within the purview of your public service to the Marin community for the Independent-Journal to take the lead in urging the citizens of Marin and their county and city officials to endorse the present efforts of the City of San Francisco to bring the Summit Conference to the Golden Gate.

Both formal and informal expressions from the Marin community extending cordial hospitality and goodwill toward those who would comprise the Summit Meeting might in the eyes of some constitute a mere gesture. Yet a cordial and formal gesture of sincere goodwill inaugurated first of all by the editor and publisher of the Independent-Journal and acted upon immediately by the County Board of Supervisors might well meet with the approval of the majority of men and women of goodwill within our Marin Community.

While the city of San Francisco might be the immediate and specific place for a Summit Meeting, the eyes and ears and thoughts of the world would be turned toward our entire bay area, symbolized most graphically by the Golden Gate.

San Francisco has swung its side open to a Summit Meeting with enthusiasm and cordiality—and alacrity. It would be in the highest tradition of the public service of the American newspapers for you to rally the citizens of Marin to open our side of the Golden Gate and speak a loud and warm "Welcome."

Not All Speeders Are Drag Racing

Independent-Journal:

In your article on Page 4 of May 8's I-J, I not your term "drag races" used for two youths who, as I read further, were accused of "racing" 45 miles per hour in Tomales for several hours.

Sounds a little strange as at most a drag race between the two could've lasted five or 10 minutes.

Does every speeder under 25 years of age have to be named a drag racer or a hot rodder?

American Language How She Is Spoke

By FRANK ELEAZER

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Interior Committee spent an hour debating an amendment to a bill it had under study. The amendment finally was put to a vote.

The count was 9 to 9. So Chairman Wayne Aspinall (D-Colo.) voted aye, breaking the tie. Aspinall then referred the amended bill to a subcommittee, with instructions to find out what the committee had done.

THE DROP-OUT process of course is known in these parts as attrition. This also is the word a Defense Department witness used in telling the House Armed Services Committee recently how the army expected to cut back on its strength.

"How many men will you attract between now and July 1?" somebody immediately asked.

The Navy got a lot of house with Congressmen last year with its new unsinkable ship. This was called a notional ship. The reason it couldn't be sunk was that it was never going to be built.

BIG NEWS in the Navy this year is fram. A captain who unveiled this development before an appropriations subcommittee said it's a term meaning vessels rehabilitation and modernization.

The problem with military inventions like this is that Congress, after denouncing them, usually adopts them as its own. Sometimes it improves them.

By next year, at this rate, they won't be overhauling ships at all. They'll be framatizing them. The program by then will be described as framatization. A ship about to be mothballed — now there's a real, genuine, old liguistic relic — will be pictured as ready for deframatizationing.

SATELLITE IS a word the Air Force currently looks on with favor. Most folks always considered this a noun. Now it's a transitive verb. One helpful congressman says what it means when used this way is orbitize. He didn't say what that means.

The military, though way out front in the new words race, can't take all the credit. A Civil Aeronautics Board official told a committee this week CAB would approve airline mergers all right. But about dismergers, he wasn't so sure.

A CAB safety man testified that part of his job is to delethalize aircraft. Other testimony gave a clue to why this is important. It seems that planes operate on two noncoicident incompatible navigation arrangements.

CONGRESSMEN sometimes invent words on their own.

I don't have any idea what brought it up but two House members last week came up with Luce-tongued. Rep. Stewart L. Udall (D-Ariz.) defined this as untimely invective. Rep. Frank M. Coffin (D-Maine) preferred remorseless comment.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

A flying saucer — yep, another one — landed smack in front of a big New York newspaper office and the oddest looking pilot yet stepped out into the sunshine. "Where do you hail from?" asked the owner of the newspaper who, as is his wont, was loading copies of that morning's issue on to a truck. "I am the editor of a paper out in the stratosphere," squeaked the man from the saucer, "but space does not permit me to say where."

A timely warning from Corey Ford (in his new book, "Has Anybody Seen Me Lately?"): "Slowly but surely, the wellsprings of humor are drying up today. Derision is taken for disloyalty. Political satire is extinct, personal caricature is libel, parody is illegal, dialect jokes are strictly taboo. 'You can't even kid about the man-eating shark these days,' Franklin P. Adams has noted, 'or the sharkskin-suit manufacturers will land on you like a ton of bricks'."

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By ROBERT K. NEWCOMB

County Attempting To Control Poison Oak Through Spray Program

NOVATANS PRONE to break out with poison oak can take heart from the efforts of the county agricultural department, concentrating these days on the eradication of the unfriendly shrub in north Marin.

Under the direction of deputy agricultural commissioner Richard Straw, the department is spraying plant killer near footpaths, schoolyards and roadsides as a part of its weed-control program.

In the old days, recalls Thomas Peryam, agricultural commissioner, you could walk for miles through the Marin countryside and not see a trace of the noxious plant.

But that was in the days before the blossoming of suburbia. Then, the acres were roamed by herds of cattle, and the heavy-hoofed quadrupeds were enough to discourage the plant's seedlings, Tom says. But now, up it sprouts, to the general chagrin.

SINCE THE AIR Force suffered unfavorable publicity last month when some of its high flying jets battered the bay area with sonic booms—allegedly cracking windows and shattering nerves — Hamilton Air Force Base has launched a public speaking campaign which has real merit.

Now, instead of sending desk-bound officers out to address service clubs on the whys and wherefores of the booms, the base is sending pilots and radar observers out to spread the word.

The theory being, so we're told by Maj. Phillip Coady, Hamilton information officer, "that the men who make the booms ought to be the ones to explain them."

Pilots and their "RO's" of the 83rd and 84th Fighter Interceptor Squadrons (who fly the supersonic F104 Starfighters and F101 Voodoos) are being assigned to the rostrum duty.

EDDIE TAM, mayor of the city and county of Mauai in what is now our 50th state, landed at Hamilton Air Force Base last week, one of a delegation of island officials on a whirlwind tour of air force installations across the U.S.

Watching a fire-power demonstration at Elgin Air Force Base, Fla. and seeing the Air Force Academy in Colorado were notable experiences, he reported. But what amazed him most, he said, was being able to talk by phone with San Francisco Mayor George Christopher — even before the air force plane in which he was flying had touched down at Hamilton.

Bill, whose job is getting busier all the time with more and more visitors invading the parklands, has a rare problem when it comes to getting regular sleep. It's coon dogs.

Since the park is a wild life refuge, the place is strictly off limits to the hunting dogs. Trouble is, the dogs can't read the signs — or their owners can't — especially after nightfall.

Bill was up till nearly daylight Sunday chasing the baying hounds through the dark undergrowth. They finally came up to him when he blew his "silent" high pitched dog whistle. He got his shuteye only after turning the animals over to the county humane society.

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Republicans Face Difficult, Delightful Decision Between Nixon, Rockefeller

There can be no more difficult and delightful controversy for the Republican party than deciding whether to nominate Vice President Nixon or Governor Rockefeller for President.

For at least another nine months, Nixon will set the pace. Until Rockefeller achieved his sensational victory in New York last November, Nixon was the lone claimant for the 1960 nomination. He remains well in the lead in the public opinion polls and in the favor of the leaders of the party in every section of the country.

EVENTS WILL continue to provide Nixon with a good forum. His trip to the Soviet Union in July to open the American exhibition in Moscow — on which some 30 to 40 correspondents will accompany him—is a good example. He will meet and talk at length with the Soviet leaders and will thereby be associated with the very center of the problems which most concern the American people.

Nixon's chairmanship of the Cabinet committee on inflation will probably help, and can't hurt, as he comes up to 1960. It identifies him as an active participant in a matter in which the public is deeply affected.

THERE WILL BE other important chores. In fact, some think that President Eisenhower is going out of his way to further Nixon's cause. I find nothing to support this view. There have been no contrived assignments for the Vice President. I do not think that Eisenhower is going to try to influence the nomination. It would be out of character.

Another reason Republicans will likely have a hard time choosing between Nixon and Rockefeller is that, as I see it, there will be no such deep policy issue between them as there was between Dewey and Willkie in 1940, between Taft and Dewey in 1948, and between Taft and Eisenhower in 1952.

GOV. ROCKEFELLER is no sugar-coated radical. He just doesn't believe that yesterday's political prescriptions automatically solve today's political problems. He is not a tranquillized conservative, but he doesn't sit up nights trying to find ways to spend the taxpapers' money.

Rockefeller will have plenty of political visibility during the coming year. A month after Nixon makes his trip to Moscow, Rockefeller will take the spotlight at the annual governors' conference in Puerto Rico. And it is his fellow Republican governors who are most powerful within the party.

NOR WILL HE be without the raw material of a political program with which to identify himself as an effective public official. Right now he has 21 studies under way dealing with the same kind of economic, educational, and social problems in New York which other states are experiencing in greater or lesser degree. By next January these studies will provide the basis of important messages to the legislature.

If it be true that events will determine the 1960 Republican nominee, it is clear that Gov. Rockefeller is going to have a hand in shaping those events.

Hub City Laws Put Into One Package

The San Anselmo City Council last night introduced a genuine catch-all ordinance, putting together in one ready-reference package the accumulated city ordinances of 52 years.

The new measure, labeled the San Anselmo Municipal Code, is the work of attorney Allen Grimes of Modesto. He was hired more than a year ago to codify the city's ordinances. The job he did puts together as a single code the hodgepodge of ordinances adopted since the days when horse-drawn carriages transported summer residents from their hillside cottages to the Northwestern Pacific's interurban line.

NO NEW LAWS

Some 60 to 70 old ordinances are repealed by the code, reported City Manager Arthur W. Brewer, "but not one sentence of new law has been added."

The code will get a public hearing on June 9, and probably will be adopted the same night.

The council also awarded contracts for several public improvement projects, and for a new pickup truck and street roller for the street department.

The contract for installing a culvert between Bolinas and Belle avenues went to E. A. Forde Co. of San Anselmo, lowest of three bidders at $4,989. The high bid, by Ghilotti Brothers of San Rafael, was nearly double—$8,968.

BRIDGE REPAIR

But on repairing the Taylor Street bridge, Ghilotti Brothers won the contract at $5,281. Only other bidder was Russ Lauterwasser of Larkspur, who asked $6,600.

John H. McCosker Co. of Berkeley won the contract for installing an underdrain on Sir Francis Drake boulevard opposite Madrone avenue, at $1,910. Three other bids ranged up to $3,442, with E. A. Forde Co. the high bidder.

Bianco Motors of San Rafael was awarded the contract for the pickup truck on a bid of $3,645, second lowest of five. Ames Ford Sales of San Rafael offered a truck at $3,589.28, but City Manager Brewer reported it failed to meet the city's specifications.

The council accepted the low bid of Essex Co. for a street roller at $3,976.60. Four other bids ranged up to $5,270.

TENNIS COURTS

Contract for resurfacing the tennis courts in city park was awarded to Malott and Peterson of San Francisco, only bidder at $1,790 — just $10 less than City Manager Brewer had allowed for the job in the budget.

Also at the five-hour Hub City council meeting:

1. A public hearing on the Ash Avenue Assessment District evolved into a round-table discussion among City Engineer John C. Oglesby and property owners. Oglesby told the council he thought the district's problems would be worked out without too much trouble.

2. The council agreed to continue for one year a crossing guard on Sir Francis Drake boulevard at Isabel Cook School, even if the city has to pay the whole cost. But City Manager Brewer was instructed to get the matter on the county board of supervisors' agenda and make a plea for the county to pay part of the cost. The county has paid 60 per cent in the past but has not planned to do so hereafter. James W. Stinchcomb, Isabel Cook principal, promised to back up the city manager with a delegation from the school district and the Isabel Cook Parent-Teacher Assn.

ANNUAL AUDIT

3. Cooper and Kerr, accounting firm that set up the city's new double-entry bookkeeping system, was engaged to give further assistance on the bookkeeping and make the annual audit at a fee not to exceed $1,000, and to be accounting counselors and put the audit on a monthly basis next fiscal year at $100 per month.

4. The council set a meeting with the planning commission on the proposed master plan for May 21, and a public hearing on the master plan for May 26.

5. Warrants totaling $42,028.95 were approved.

6. The council received notice that the term of John P. O'Connell on the board of review has expired, but put off naming a successor until the June meeting.

Council Goes 50-50 With Review Board

The San Anselmo City Council went half way with the city's board of review last night.

The four members of the council present (Mrs. Carmel H. Booth is recovering at home from a sinus operation) unanimously overruled a board of review recommendation in voting to raise the permissive weight limit on the oral portion of civil service examinations to 40 per cent. The board of review had recommended shifting to 25 per cent.

But the council went along with the board's recommendation against eliminating the requirement for a written examination for laborers and maintenance men. The vote on that was 3-1, with Mayor Arthur W. Smith the dissenter.

PT&T Will Lay Marin-S.F. Cable

Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. expects to lay a cable from Marin County's Point Cavallo to Cressy Field in the Presidio of San Francisco in one day next August.

The 300-pair cable will be 12,000 feet long and four and one-half to five inches in diameter.

The cable-laying is dependent upon approval from the Army Corps of Engineers in San Francisco. The engineers are withholding approval of the company's application 30 days to permit any one to file objections. The objections may be submitted to the district engineer at 180 New Montgomery street, San Francisco.

The cable will become an auxiliary for two similar cables whose work-load is nearing capacity. The third cable also will provide an emergency link should one of the other cables fail.

Belvedere Cub Pack Sets Blue-Gold Dinner

The annual blue and gold dinner of Cub Scout Pack 78 in Belvedere will be held May 21 at 6:30 p.m. in St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, according to pack committee chairman Roderick Aya.

Awards will be presented at the dinner to welcome new bobcats and say farewell to Webelos.

2 Planning Matters Hog Board's Time

Two Tiburon planning matters on 17-item agenda yesterday afternoon hogged the time of the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

The board zipped through the other matters brought before it from the planning commission, and other county business; but two applications for adjustment and a consideration of development plans took up most of the more than four-hour meeting.

EARLIER DISCUSSION

All three matters already had taken hours of consideration at planning commission meetings.

The board held up approval on an application for adjustment by Mattei Development Co., already approved by the planners. The application asked for consideration of development plans for only a portion of an area covered by the Mariner Oaks Master Plan for property on Mar West street adjacent to the Southern Marin Recreation Center. Luxury apartments are planned at the area.

Development plans for only one lot of Mariner Oaks were sent back to the planning commission for further consideration of the plan as it relates to the general area. The problem: Density. The board already had heard lengthy protests: That this would be another Stonestown and would ruin property values, and pleas: That the developers had put plenty of money into the plan and that they did not consider it an "abortion."

CLUB'S APPLICATION

An application for adjustment by the Corinthian Yacht Club for construction of a piling bulkhead and 40-car parking lot was referred to County Counsel Leland H. Jordan.

The question: Can such an adjustment be made without filing the required master plan and development plan?

The board yesterday also:

1. Received a report from County Administrator Donald A. Jensen on estimated costs during the present fiscal year for indigent dental care. They are: Dental care under state medical care program, $9,341; dental care covered by increase in grants, $3,300, and dental care covered solely by county indigent funds, $20,000.

2. Approved the tentative subdivision map of Marinwood Unit 2-F, approximately 14 acres in the northeast section of Marinwood.

3. Approved the tentative map of Desco subdivision for five acres along Leese lane in Novato.

4. Approved these appointments: Rudolph G. Ferretti, deputy sheriff, effective Friday, at $376 a month, and John R. Dawe, junior civil engineer in the department of public works, effective today, at $436 a month.

5. Put in the budget file a request from the Sleepy Hollow Parents Club that funds be provided for continuation of the Junior Museum of Marin.

6. Approved the annexation to the Novato Lighting District of Western Estates and Lynwood Park No. 6 and a portion of No. 4.

7. Referred to County Counsel Jordan and Public Works Director Marvin W. Brigham an $1,818.55 claim from Associated Pipelines, Inc., concerning Harbor Point Unit 1.

8. Received from the Novato Home Rule Committee a notice of intention to circulate petitions for the incorporation of Novato, and from the Marin County Boundary Commission the maps approved by the commission of proposed Novato city boundaries. These materials must be checked by various county authorities before the board can set a date for public hearing on the incorporation proposal.

9. Referred to the county administrator the matter of meeting with representatives of the Marin County Employees Assn. to discuss salary schedules in non-technical jobs, as suggested by association president William Desmond.

Board Nears End Of Budget Work

The Marin County Board of Supervisors, nearing the end of consideration of the proposed 1959-60 county budget, will meet again at 9 a.m. tomorrow.

Scheduled as one of the first orders of business is the county parks and recreation budget.

Also the board must consider promotion and development, insurance and capital outlay.

Switchblade Knife Is Totally Illegal

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Switchblade knives are totally banned under a new law signed yesterday by Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

The new legislation extended the misdemeanor penalty for the sale or carrying of switchblades to include mere possession. The ban includes so-called "gravity knives" that are released by the weight of the blade or a flip of the wrist.

GRAND BALL SINGER—Frankie Lester, a recording vocalist, will sing with Billy May's 15-piece orchestra during the grand ball of the Native Sons of the Golden West May 19 in San Rafael's Bermuda Palms. The NSGW convention starts with a parade the evening of May 17 and ends May 21.

Quentin Trustees Discuss Budget

Prospective increases in the budget and teacher salaries were discussed by trustees of the San Quentin School District last night, Final action will be taken in June.

Trustees said there may be a $1,000 increase in income this next year. Income this year was $15,000. The tax rate was $1.30.

FEUDS COME TO LIGHT

Parking, Garbage Problems Occupy Hub City Council

It wasn't financing a new firehouse nor codifying 450 ordinances that bogged down the San Anselmo City Council last night; it was Mrs. Cechittini's traffic tickets and Mrs. Weinger's garbage.

Mrs. Teresa Cechittini, a good humored blonde, complained to the council that "I have today 22 parking tickets for parking in front of my own house" at 96 Hawthorne avenue. That, she maintained, is unfair.

Mrs. Cechittini's house is on a narrow hillside street. There is a one-car garage. But Mrs. Cechittini has a car; her husband has a car; her son, who comes home on weekends from college, has a car; her daughter, who often visits at home, has a car.

'FAIR ENOUGH'

All but one of the cars must be parked partly on the street. "I put the wheels on one side on my property and the wheels on the other side on yours; that's fair enough," she told the council.

But the police, she complained, do not think it is fair enough. They keep ticketing her car—and her husband's and son's and daughters's—for all night parking.

Mrs. Cechittini had been the rounds before reaching the city council. She told the judge told her it was a problem for the council. She complained to the police and then her car didn't get ticketed but her husband's and son's did. She went to the city attorney and was told the parking ordinance is subject to various interpretations.

WANTS CHANGE

Mrs. Cechittini wanted the ordinance changed forthwith. She couldn't understand why it is legal to park on the street all day but not all night. "Do the streets shrink at night?" she demanded.

At that point Mrs. W. R. Bazzetta of 12 Tamalpais avenue, definitely not in good humor at the moment, got in the act. Every time her car is parked for over an hour in front of her house, it gets ticketed, she complained, and "two other cars five houses up the street never get tickets." She's been feuding with police about it for months, said Mrs. Bazzetta: "I purposely leave my car out so I can get a ticket."

Mrs. Cechittini wound up with:

"If anyone knows a house for sale in San Rafael that's comparable to mine, I'm moving." (Real estate brokers, please note.)

GARBAGE PROBLEM

Then came Mrs. Florence Weinger of San Francisco, a querulous-humored brunette who owns an apartment house at the foot of Red Hill. Mrs. Weinger has a feud, too, but not with the police. Hers is with the San Anselmo Garbage Disposal.

Mrs. Weinger gets billed for garbage pickup from the apartment house at the hillside rate. She should be charged the flat rate, she maintained in a great many words. "The garbage man can drive right up and pick up the cans; he doesn't even have to walk one step," she insisted.

Furthermore, said Mrs. Weinger, she has been billed for collection of garbage from apartments that were unoccupied.

RETURNS CHECK

It developed that since the first of the year, the garbage company has billed Mrs. Weinger at the hillside rate and she sent checks in payment at the flat rate. The garbage company has returned the checks.

The difference between the two rates is 25 cents per month per apartment. The sum now in dispute figures out to about $7.50.

And it promised to take still more of the time of City Manager Arthur W. Brewer, who, looking only slightly like Solomon, was handed the chore of trying to adjucate the parking ticket and garbage feuds.

Legionnaires Elect In Mill Valley

He succeeds Dr. J. J. Diederich.

Other officers named were Milo Lefever Jr., first vice commander; Nelson H. Norgren, second vice commander; Ross J. Benson, re-elected finance officer; Harry Hersh, re-elected chaplain; William H. Lassner, sergeant at arms, and William Cavanagh, historian.

Named to the executive committee were Francis E. Petosa, Joe Stewart and Thomas Bickerstaff.

Installation of officers is scheduled for May 25 at the Legion building on Miller avenue. The Marin 40 et 8 ritual team will install the officers of the post and its auxiliary, according to outgoing commander Diederich.

Drunk Driving Costs San Rafael Man $250

Joseph Pasquini, 32, of 62 Ranch road, San Rafael, must pay a $250 fine for his first drunken driving offense.

He was sentenced Monday by Judge Albert F. Scheidecker of Sebastopol, sitting in Marin Municipal Court. Pasquini was arrested Sunday on Highway 101 near Hamilton Air Force Base.

Most Popular Man These Days Is Little League Team Coach

Who's the most popular man in your neighborhood just now? I think I know. He's the Little League team coach. Do you know him? Let's honor him today.

He offered his services reluctantly. He has other things to worry about. His own family, house, car and yard. He has his work to do every day. Why should he undertake anything more? But he likes boys. So he said he'd do it.

Now he's Mr. Baseball. He has a helper or two, but the responsibilities are his. He met with his players to coach them. He taught our boys how to hold a bat, catch a ball, and run like a rabbit from base to base. He is patient. He is optimistic. Pessimists don't last in Little League.

He is a diplomat. We are anxious about our sons. Some of us have bad judgment. We're quick to criticize. We may charge the coach with favoritism, when none exists. If our team loses, we may blame him. Our school coaches face the same complaints. But they get paid for it. He doesn't.

Now he's busy with games. He thinks, sleeps and eats small boys' baseball. His wife talks at breakfast about the day's plans. He doesn't hear her. He's figuring out a new batting lineup. He gets home to dinner at about nine in the evening. He has dreams about baseball at night. He'll be this way until the season ends.

There are some unworthy Little League coaches. I know that. But they're very rare. Most of them are nice guys, doing a good job of helping our boys.

Hub City Trustees To Study Budget

A preliminary 1959-60 budget for the San Anselmo School District, predicated on the distric's general fund tax rate limit of $1.45 per $100 assessed valuation, will be submitted to the district trustees when they meet at 8 o'clock tonight in the Isabel Cook School faculty room.

Supt. Harold R. DePue will recommend approval of the budget except for teachers' salaries, which possibly could be raised when the district knows what its state apportionment will be. DePue hopes that pending state legislation will be passed by the June 10 meeting of the San Anselmo school trustees.

June 18 Graduation For Hub City Pupils

Two separate graduation ceremonies are scheduled for 8 p.m. on June 18: One at Isabel Cook School and the other at Sleepy Hollow School.

Prison Rioters Get Chance To Air Grievances

FORT PILLOW, Tenn. (AP) — Convicts got a chance to air their grievances before state officials today on the heels of a 14-hour prison dormitory revolt that ended as abruptly as it began.

The youthful inmates pushed aside their barricades and freed two guards unharmed yesterday after prison officials promised that their complaints would be heard and there would be no reprisals.

After series of talks with State Corrections Commissioner Keith Hampton, the prisoners surrendered meekly to massed highway patrolmen shortly before noon.

Hampton said he planned to spend the next two days investigating the riot, which was designed to focus attention on grievances ranging from bad food to alleged brutality.

Prison officials admitted inmates sometimes were lashed —which was another of the grievances. "But we don't use the leather strap nearly enough," one guard remarked.

Top Language Students To Get Awards

First awards in an unusual experiment of academic recognition in the language field will be given next week at San Rafael High School.

Emblems designed by members of the foreign language department will be given to students who have qualified under the department's new honors program.

Language honors will be given in each year of a language study to students who maintain a 90 average in class work and complete special individual projects. A student in the third year of a language, for example, would complete a project in the language being studied, based on research in the same language, and demonstrating the pupil's ability to write and compose. Emphasis is on extra work above and beyond the assigned class and homework.

The basic emblem is the well known San Rafael high bulldog in white on a three inch red circle (school colors) with "Laudamus Linguas" as the inscription. A second year student would earn a white backing for it, and a larger red backing indicates a third year achievement. The resulting alternate color ring effect would show the year of the award. The fourth year language student will receive an award of a different kind.

Group Votes $400 To Surface Road

Members of the Strawberry Property Owners Assn. have voted to put up $400 to surface a new roadway linking Reed boulevard with the Golden Gate Baptist Seminary property, president Forrest Randolph announced today.

The action was voted at a meeting of the association Monday night.

J. Martin Rosse, an owner of the property, has agreed to put up $400, and Frank Buehler, another owner, will put up $200.

The 195-foot stretch is a dedicated roadway easement, said Randolph, but has not been accepted by the county for maintenance.

Collection Division Transfer Backed

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill transferring control of the state Division of Collection Agencies from the secretary of state's office to the Department of Professional and Vocational Standards has been approved by the Assembly Governmental Organization Committee.

Assemblyman Glenn Coolidge (R-Felton) offered the plan which would place the division under the department which supervises most businesses.

Administration of the division was sharply criticized by a recent Senate interim committee report on abuses in the collection agency business.

ACADEMY WON'T TAKE IT

Astaire Would Give Back Emmy For 'Best Actor'

But a spokesman for the Academy of Television Arts and Sciences says the award was won fairly by Astaire—and it is his.

Astaire said through a spokesman he wanted to return the award because of confusion over the "best actor" category. Some critics, including Ed Sullivan, contend the Emmy should have gone for a dramatic instead of a dancing performance.

"I don't think anyone will disagree that Mr. Astaire is an actor and that he gave a great performance," replied Thomas Freebairn-Smith, Academy executive secretary. He indicated the matter was closed.

State Won't Limit TV Commercials

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The state's not going to turn off those long TV commercials.

A bill to limit the television ads was sent out for two-year study of the Senate Business and Professions Committee yesterday.

The members agreed with an opinion by the legislative counsel that the bill by Sen. Stanford C. Shaw (D-Ontario) is probably unconstitutional because the stations are under regulation of the Federal Communications Commission.

Leslie and Eleanor Heath check two puppets in the Lesselli Marionettes' "Puppet Circus" which will perform for children at 10:30 a.m. and 2 p.m. Saturday in the San Rafael High School auditorium on the season's final program of the Junior Theater of Marin. "The Valiant Little Tailor" will precede the circus.

Richmond Details Big Redevelopment Project

The City of Richmond has a plan to save its slipping retail district, to bring its downtown section out of the horse-and-buggy days and into the 20th Century.

The prescription to bring this East Bay hub of commerce up to date is contained in the city's just-published redevelopment and revitalization plan.

It was prepared by the Richmond Development Foundation, an organization of downtown Richmond merchants, property owners and merchants who are determined to make downtown Richmond healthy.

IMPORTANT TO MARIN

The plan is important to Marin because Richmond is the nearest neighbor of any size to San Rafael, this county's commercial hub, and shows how a city can direct its growth and development to provide the stimulus for new investment.

And it's important because it recommends a mall in the heart of the city — right on Richmond's main street. A similar mall has been suggested for San Rafael, along A street with the Mission San Rafael Arcangel at one end and a new city hall at the other. A modern shopping area would line the sides of the mall.

The plan, prepared by Harold F. Wise, city planning consultant; Welton Becket and Associates, architects and engineers, and Larry Smith and Co., real estate consultants, sets forth these facts, goals and plans:

Richmond must get out of the horse-and-buggy days and into the 20th Century, if, in part, only to meet the formidable competition of the shopping center.

PARKING SPACE

The shopping center can't offer any more in merchandise than the downtown section, but there are definite advantages in them for shoppers. Not the least of these is more parking. Too, the shopper is drawn to them by their newness, cleanliness, excitement and modernity.

It's true that the downtown section has drawing power. It has the history, the tradition and the habit of a community on its side. The merchants are established and trusted. But the downtown area is slipping. Trade area residents are expected to spend 237 million dollars in 1960 with the downtown area capturing only a portion of this.

HEART OF CITY

The area under study is old and run down—but it is the heart of the city. Its center is the central business district. The plan proposes that the area be subjected to the process of urban renewal.

Richmond's complex downtown traffic problem would be solved with freeways and through streets. An overpass would route pedestrian traffic over the busy main street — MacDonald avenue.

MacDonald would be closed to traffic and developed as a huge mall. Other important streets would be developed as cross malls off MacDonald.

The mall plan is one of the key proposals, and would transform a busy street into a peaceful pedestrian area. The plan calls an interesting pavement —perhaps brick and washed pebble concrete to give variation in texture and color.

OTHER PROPOSALS

Here are other proposals for the mall:

Trees and shrubs, planting areas in raised boxes, kiosks, meeting and rest area, modernization of store fronts, a continuous canopy into which illuminated signs would be placed to call attention to each business establishment, directional signs, maps and ground illumination.

The plan declares that money more than anything else is needed to solve the downtown parking problem, and that about six million dollars would be needed to bring the area up to standard. At first the money would come from parking space revenues, later from taxes.

The plan recommends that the development foundation take the proposal to the Richmond City Council with the requests for public hearings to designate the central 16-block area an urban renewal area. After that the city would call upon Richmond's Redevelopment Agency to execute the plan.

ENTER INTO CONTRACT

The agency would enter into a contract with the foundation in which the foundation would agree to serve as staff for execution of the plan.

The foundation would then go to each property owner to get an owner-participation agreement on the construction of the canopies, and an agreement on the owners' sharing in the cost.

Other funds for the project would come from sales and other taxes, bonds, and city, county, state and federal aid.

It will take cooperation from everyone concerned, the plan report says, but it can be started now, not 10 years from now.

HEARING CHAIRMAN—Slavka Cibilich of 106 Summit drive, Corte Madera, is chairman of the Hearing Society of Marin's two-day "Better Hearing" institute to be held next Tuesday and Wednesday in the Frances Young Gallery of Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross.

Fairfax To Hear Views Of School Candidates

Fairfax residents will examine at firsthand the views of 23 candidates in the May 19 school board elections at a candidates night at 8 o'clock in the multi-purpose room of Deer Park School.

To be heard are candidates for the county board of education and the Fairfax, Tamalpais High School and Marin Junior College District boards.

Homer Sisk, principal of Central and Manor schools in Fairfax said: "Several controversial issues are involved here. The people of Fairfax need this opportunity to inform themselves as to the thinking of these candidates."

Mayor Edward Smith will preside. The meeting will be sponsored jointly by the three Parent-Teacher Assn's. in Fairfax.

One controversial issue, according to Mrs. Harold Walker, president of the Deer Park P-TA, is the proposed hiring of "outsiders" as lunch-time play supervisors at the schools.

Also in question is the high school educational policy, she said.

Twenty of the 23 candidates have accepted the invitation. The others, because of previous committments, are unable to attend, but have submitted statements to be read. Sisk did not name the three.

Each candidate will have three minutes in which to give his views, and 10 minutes for questions from the audience.

Extra Work At School Site Approved

Trustees of Larkspur School District Monday night gave conditional acceptance to fill and grading done by the Charles L. Harney Co. at the new Larkspur School site. The work cost the district an extra $28,000.

The condition was that Harney, within 10 days, repair a portion of Larkspur's Boardwalk No. 1 which became warped by the moving of topsoil.

Completion of site work took 84 days longer than the contract called for. A total of 51 extra days was devoted to removal of an additional 10,000 cubic yards of mud from the marshlands site. It was the unanticipated mud removal which cost the extra $28,000. Trustees Monday night approved the expenditure.

W. J. Kubon Co. of San Rafael has started construction of the new kindergarten through eighth grade school on the site between Corte Madera Creek and Larkspur's Magnolia avenue.

In other matters, Larkspur School District trustees:

1. Set for May 26 at 7:30 p.m. a special meeting on the 1959-60 district budget. School election returns also will be canvassed at the session.
2. Set for June 2 at 7:30 p.m. a special meeting on report cards and the district's enrichment study program.
3. Hired Mrs. Jeanne Keller of San Anselmo as a sixth grade teacher at the new Larkspur school.

Adlard To Head Planners' Board

The Corte Madera Planning Commission has re-elected John Adlard as chairman and named Boyd N. Moore vice chairman for 1959-60.

Adlard and Moore also were appointed to the town board of adjustments, along with Commissioner James V. Davitte. The latter will serve until a new commissioner is appointed to succeed Wilbur L. Reed, whose term expired May 1.

Commissioner Harold B. Wagstaff was named to the town board of design, on which he served once before.

The commission recommended to Town Manager Arthur H. Brandow that its 1959-60 budget be set at $1,400. The figure provides for zoning and planning activities and includes a small allowance for the board of design.

LAW IN ACTION

Indian Treaties Have Strength Of Constitution

(This column, prepared by California lawyers, appears regularly in the Independent-Journal.)

The U. S. Supreme Court has to apply the "supreme law of the land"—the constitution and the treaties—in real disputes before it. As often as not, these disputes arise out of headaches of little people.

For example, our treaties with the Indian nations of this country rank with our constitution as the supreme law of the land. The Indians' rights may be set out in some treaty and will determine whether or not they can be sued, by whom, and before what "forums."

TRIBAL JURISDICTION

For example, the other day the U. S. Supreme Court wouldn't let a pale-face store keeper sue in Arizona courts to collect for goods he sold on an Indian reservation.

Under a treaty, the Indians claimed and the U. S. Supreme Court backed them up, that it was tribal court, and not the Arizona state court, that could decide such claims.

The U. S. Supreme Court held: Unless Congress gives state courts jurisdiction, they have none over Indians on their reservations. Rather under the treaty between the Navajos and the United States, the "internal affairs of the Indians remained exclusively within the jurisdiction of whatever tribal government existed."

REQUEST NEEDED

While Congress favors state control over Indians, the courts noted, the state legislature or the people would have to ask Congress for that jurisdiction —which Arizona had neglected to do.

Regardless of whether the storekeeper was an Indian or not (he wasn't), "He was on the reservation, and the transaction with an Indian took place there." Hence no Arizona court had jurisdiction—yet.
